Tax-Cutting Plan Called 'Big Gamble'

GOP Leadership Says Choice Is Between Deficits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate - House Republican leadership Friday assailed President Kennedy's tax - cutting proposals as "undoubtedly the biggest economic gamble in the history of nations."

A statement by the GOP leaders said the administration's program is based on a philosophy which says that "the only choice is between two kinds of deficits."

"It is like a choice between two kinds of bankruptcy," it added, "you are broke in either case."

ADOPTED

The statement was adopted Thursday at the first meeting at this congressional session of top GOP leaders in both houses. It was sent to the Senate press gallery for release Friday without the usual televised news conference by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Senate minority leader, and Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., party House leader.

The Republicans said Kennedy has described as the "core" of his program for solving unemployment a $10.2-billion net tax cut, a $4.5-billion increase in federal spending and a $12-billion deficit.

They said the administration "is engaging in a desperate kind of economics, because it has no solution to the unemployment problem."

"The Republican goal in this Congress will be a reduction in federal spending which can lead to a reasonable tax cut," they said. "It can be done because we have done it. The only two major tax cuts in the last 30 years were enacted by Republican Congresses and both times we cut spending substantially."

Court Hearing Into Ole Miss Case Complete

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal criminal contempt hearing for Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson ended Friday when the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals took the matter under advisement.

The appellate court gave no indication when it would rule.

Earlier the court ruled the state of Mississippi could not shoulder the blame for the charges against Barnett.

The charges grew out of Barnett's and Johnson's effort to block the enrollment of Negro James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi last fall.

This same court held Barnett and Johnson in civil contempt but never has imposed any penalty. With the matter still pending, it ordered the Justice Department to institute the criminal contempt proceedings.

Eight of the courts nine judges sat in on the hearing — an unusual en banc session.

At the outset hearing, Garner W. Green, a Mississippi special assistant attorney general, stepped before the long bench where the eight judges sat and pleaded with them to make the state a party in the case.

The actions of Barnett and Johnson in the desegregation crisis "were the acts of the state," he said.

Judge Griffin B. Bell of Atlanta interjected a question:

"Are you claiming that Barnett is Mississippi?"

Green replied: "Exactly."

JFK Confident Of Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is confident that Soviet combat troops will leave Cuba before the end of March, a high Latin-American official said Friday.

Kennedy was reported to have plans for joint U.S. action with the Organization of American States to deal with the situation if the troops are not withdrawn by then.

The Latin American, who saw Kennedy at the White House Thursday, declined to be identified. But the official said he did not share the Presidents optimism.

Other sources said the President was drafting a personal message to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev prodding him to speed up the troop pullout.

AGAINST RED GUERRILLAS

South Viet Nam Troops Launch Heavy Operation

AP BAI LAI, South Viet Nam (AP) — American-piloted fighter-bombers laid down a blanket of fire bombs, rockets and machine gun fire Friday as South Vietnamese ground forces opened a major operation against Communist guerrillas hiding in tinder-dry countryside not far from Saigon.

IGOR CASSINI

It was one of the heaviest air strikes in the war against the Viet Cong from North Viet Nam. Dozens of fires were set in the area and columns of smoke towered into the sky.

U.S. Army helicopters carried South Vietnamese troops into the area, laced with canals and covered with dry brush, to engage guerrilla forces which had increased their activity over the past several weeks.

The U.S.-piloted B26s and T28s ripped into concentrations of enemy troops under trees, strafed and bombed up and down the canals and blistered the entire area with napalm fire bombs.

SHEET OF FLAME

Brush fires spread rapidly for miles over dry rice fields. One field was enveloped by a continuous sheet of flame half a mile wide.

The battle scene is about 130 miles southwest of Saigon.

None of the 13 troop-carrying helicopters was reported hit, although observation planes and the fighter-bombers reported they had drawn heavy machine gun fire from positions in and around a hamlet near here.

Government officials maintained tight security and did not disclose the number of troops involved or casualties.

Several hundred South Vietnamese troops moved into one burning hamlet but met no resistance. During the air strike heavy groundfire was reported from the hamlet.

Air strike activity has been increasing sharply in the past several weeks with the arrival of new planes and personnel. It was disclosed that the U.S. Air Force now has 2,000 men in South Viet Nam.

The Vietnamese air force also has made dramatic strikes in strength over the past several months.

Two Indicted For Failure To Register

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal grand jury Friday indicted newspaper columnist Igor Cassini and lawyer Paul Englander on charges of failing to register as U.S. agents for slain Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the indictment, returned by a District of Columbia grand jury, charged both men with willfully and unlawfully failing to register with the Justice Department as required under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

Cassini, who writes a society column for the New York Journal-American under the pen name of Cholly Knickerbocker, and Englander, a New York lawyer, were charged with setting up a public relations firm to act as U.S. publicity agents for the defunct Trujillo regime.

'UNTRUE'

In New York, Cassini said in a statement the charges were "untrue." He said his public relations firm "always registered when we represented certain foreign nations. We did not register for the Dominican Republic because we did not represent it."

If convicted, Cassini and Englander would face maximum penalties of five years in prison and $10,000 on each count. This would mean a possible maximum penalty of 20 years and $40,000 for Cassini, who was charged in all four counts, and a maximum of 10 years and $20,000 for Englander.

The Justice Department could not say when the cases might be brought to trial.

But a department spokesman said attorneys for Cassini and Englander were served with the indictments and were notified that arraignment was scheduled next Friday in U.S. District Court. The defendants presumably will enter pleas at that time.

JES' Ramblin'

Conference

Colonial Dames

Mrs. Allen Turpin Sr., 3713 Loop Road, is attending the eighth annual state conference of the Colonial Dames of the XVII Century in New Orleans.

Membership in the organization is limited to persons who can trace lineage back to an ancestor who lived in one of the original 13 colonies and who gave military or civil service or was a landowner before 1701.

Also attending the New Orleans meeting is Mrs. Benjamin Louis Harram of Marion, Ind., president general of the Colonial Dames.

Mrs. Turpin participated this week in ceremonies placing a wreath at the monument to the Women of the Armed Forces in Elks' place.

CIVILIAN-MILITARY WINGS

Physical Fitness Now Battle Of Wit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedys physical fitness program erupted Friday into a battle of wit—and potentially of muscle—between the civilian and military wings of the White House.

The press corps was dragged in for good measure.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger fired the opening volley by announcing that the President had ordered his Air Force aide, Brig. Gen. Godfrey T. McHugh, to join 20 Marine Corps officers in a 50-mile hike at Camp Lejeune, N.C., next Tuesday.

Salinger said Kennedy had read a newspaper story saying that McHugh had volunteered for the exercise and decided the general should represent the White House.

Salinger went on to say that to demonstrate his own fitness, he would go on a hike along the Historic Chesapeake & Ohio Canal next Friday and wanted White House reporters to join him.

But an apparently aghast McHugh promptly denied that he had volunteered to walk with the Marines or that he was willing to hike 50 miles every day, as the story said. McHugh managed to get his orders changed, and announced happily that he would not be going to Lejeune next week after all.

"Instead, all three military aides will go on a long walking hike accompanied by Mr. Salinger and any other staff members he might suggest so that we can compare just how fit all of us are," McHugh told a reporter.

The President's other two military aides are Army Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton and Navy Captain Tazewell T. Shepard.

Kassem Rule In Iraq Is Said Ended

Military Rivals Report Premier Was Destroyed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) —Military rivals rose against Premier Abdel Karim Kassem in Iraq Friday, announced they had crushed his rule with tanks and planes and destroyed the tyrant.

Led by young officers apparently sympathetic to President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic, the rebels said they seized 600 soldiers in Baghdad in overwhelming the Defense Ministry which Kassem had converted into a fortress against his long-feared pro-Nasser enemies.

The government in neighboring Iran said its advices from Baghdad reported the premier, 48, perished in the Defense Ministry.

But a Beirut man who telephoned Baghdad later said residents of that capital believe Kassem still is alive.

The revolt was praised in Cairo by the U.A.R. Voice of Arabs radio as "restoring Iraq to the ranks of Arab countries." Kassem's own revolt of 1958 was considered pro-Nasser but he broke with the U.A.R. leader in 1959 in a quarrel over Arab leadership.

'UNION'

Communiques flashing from Baghdad radio were interspersed with U.A.R. martial music. In one song, voices chanted "Union, union," apparently meaning union with the U.A.R.

Baghdad broadcasts said the Defense Ministry resistance collapsed at 5:30 p.m., hours after planes and tanks began their attack on the building in the heart of Baghdad.

After saying Kassem's "dirty rule" had been destroyed, a night communique reported: "Our forces are now mopping up in the (Defense Ministry) stronghold."

Dead or alive, Kassem had fallen as he had risen—by violence. On July 14, 1958, his rebels killed King Faisal II and Nuri Said, strong man pro-Western premier. Kassem later led Iraq out of its anti-Communist Baghdad Pact alliance with the West. He forged close ties with Moscow but cracked down on Iraqi Communists.

There may be resistance outside Baghdad. The rebels closed the nation's borders and airports, imposed a curfew in all Iraq, and

Iraq Rebellion Appears To Be Anti-Communist

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Friday that the military rebellion in Iraq appeared to be an anti-Communist uprising that probably was sparked by the premier's appointment of pro-Communists to high army-air force posts.

Department Press Officer Lincoln White said Premier Abdel Karim Kassem retired 58 Nationalist officers last week and replaced many of them with pro-Communists.

"The supposition is that the remaining anti-Kassem plotters felt compelled to act while they could," White said.

While gratified at the anti-Communist complexion of the new regime, American officials privately expressed some concern lest the regime's ties with the United Arab Republic lead to trouble in Syria, Jordan and other Mideast states.

The State Department said there were about 600 Americans in Iraq, including businessmen, missionaries, officials and their families. It was unable to say how many were in the capital city of Baghdad at the time of the rebellion.

Cloudy

The weatherman couldn't come up with anything original for today so he fell back on an old standby. The outlook is for mostly cloudy skies with occasional light rain or drizzle.

He also says it's going to be colder today with the high expected to be from 45-48 degrees.

The low tonight is predicted in the low 30's. Sunday will be partly cloudy and cooler.

Friday's high was 44 with the low registered at 36. There was no rainfall Friday.

Negotiator Optimistic For Geneva

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States resumed underground nuclear weapons testing Friday while the nation's top disarmament negotiator looked toward Geneva in a mildly optimistic mood over chances for progress at renewed talks.

William C. Foster, chief of the U.S. Disarmament Agency, is to leave early Saturday for the Feb. 12 resumption of the 17-nation disarmament talks at Geneva. U.S. officials said his emphasis will be on first-step "confidence-building" agreements looking to a test-ban treaty and he is at least cautiously hopeful of some progress.

INTERMEDIATE

The Atomic Energy Commission announced resumption of the underground testing in Nevada with shots in the intermediate range or less—meaning the equivalent of something between 20,000 and a million tons of TNT. The AEC would not say how many blasts were touched off but confirmed there were more than one.

The latest prior test in Nevada was on Dec. 12 and was the 59th one announced for the series which began 17 months ago.

President Kennedy on Jan. 26 suspended the Nevada testing in an obvious effort to spur the test-ban talks then going on among the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain.

But the Soviet Union on Jan. 31 broke off the New York talks with a request that they be renewed at Geneva this month. The next day, Secretary of State Dean Rusk announced Kennedy was ordering resumption of the Nevada tests. This was in line with the Presidents Jan. 26 statement that he would not accept any prolonged, unpoliced moratorium on testing.

State Department sources indicated Foster and his colleagues will concentrate at Geneva on modest aims looking to a test-ban agreement because it is felt there is virtually no chance for any major progress toward general disarmament.

Polio Clinics Not Limited To Ouachita

Residents in parishes not conducting mass polio immunizations campaigns Friday were urged by Monroe medics to get their vaccine Sunday at Ouachita Parish clinics.

Dr. F. E. McCarty, president of the Ouachita Parish Medical Society, said Ouachita clinics could handle the overflow.

Parishes adjacent to Ouachita not participating include Union and Lincoln. West Carroll Parish medical authorities earlier had invited residents of East Carroll and Chicot County, Arkansas, to visit clinics in West Carroll.

(Other Stories, Information Page 2A)

Meanwhile, local doctors were making appeals for "everyone" to turn out Sunday and take the vaccine.

Dr. Fred Marx said, "the only way the campaign can be effective is for persons of all ages to turn out in great numbers and take the life - saving vaccine."

Dr. Doyle Hamilton pointed out that "if mass campaigns are effective, we can be rid of polio. It will become as scarce as smallpox."

Dr. Elaine Fichter urged everyone to take the vaccine, "even though you may have had the Salk shots."

The clinics, 29 in all, will open at 12 noon Sunday and will close at 5 p.m.

There is no cost for the vaccine, although residents are urged to donate 25-cents toward paying for the vaccine. No one will be denied the vaccine.

A list of clinic sites and a map showing their location was published in the Thursday edition of the Morning World.

Today, a copy of the consent form needed for persons under 21 years of age is being published on page 2A of the World. No immunizations will be given to persons under age who do not have a completed copy of the form, polio drive officials said Friday.

Senator Soaper Says

Labor unions are pushing for a shorter day, a shorter week, and a shorter year. This could easily lead to a shorter century, one of, say, about 85 years.

A Russian newspaper says that men's trouser legs should be narrow, but flared at the bottom "for freedom." If you'll pardon the expression.

Pierre Salinger reports back to the President that the New York newspaper strike is "a very difficult situation." Nothing like sending out an old-time reporter to uncover the facts.

ANTITRUST LAW

18 Banks Indicted On Rate Violations

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A federal grand jury returned indictments Friday against 18 Minnesota banks, a holding company and a clearing house, charging rate-fixing and other antitrust law violations.

shocked and astonished, and predicted complete vindication in the courts.

In the first criminal cases ever brought against commercial banks under antitrust laws, three indictments alleged:

—Four Minneapolis banks, four St. Paul banks, two Duluth banks and one South St. Paul bank illegally conspired since 1955 to fix loan terms and interest rates to correspondent banks in smaller communities.

—Seven St. Paul banks and the First Bank Stock of Minneapolis, a giant bank holding company, had illegally conspired since 1957 to fix bank checking account and other service charges.

—Four Duluth banks and the Duluth Clearing House Association had illegally conspired since 1957 to fix artificially high interest rates for loans.

"We seem to be the guinea pigs," said J. H. Colman, First Bank Stock board chairman, as he said the banks had a "99.99 per cent chance of defending successfully against the charges."

Phil Nason, president of the First National Bank of St. Paul, one of the indicted banks, said, "We'll prove in court the charge isn't true."

"We are shocked that the government has chosen to bring criminal proceedings against us. This is an unreasonable and unduly harsh way to try to make new law," Nason said.

Cuban Refugee Reports Hidden Missile Base

MIAMI (UPI) — One-hundred-forty more refugees from Cuba flew to freedom Friday and one of them relayed reports of a hidden missile base in Oriente Province.

"There are reliable reports of a hidden missile base near La Micara, in the Mayori zone of northern Oriente," said Alberto Ferrer, 31, a cement factory worker who said he has watched military vehicles hauling bags of cement away from his plant for unknown construction.

Ferrer, who came here with his wife and two children on a Pan American World Airways four-engine DC6B, also reported that just before he left his hometown of Santiago, in Oriente, last Tuesday Fidel Castro's police rounded up and arrested about 500 persons. Ferrer said he did not know the reason for the arrests.

A second plane was sent to Havana a few minutes after the first landed, to pick up 27 more refugees who had been cleared for departure Friday but who could not be squeezed aboard the first plane.

The second plane arrived a few minutes after 5 p.m., the seventh such mercy flight since late December.

The first plane had flown to Havana Friday morning carrying about seven tons of prisoner ransom goods.

'FEW MORE WEEKS'

Mariner II Probe Analysis Delayed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Scientists won't be able to announce by next week if the temperature of the planet Venus is too hot to support earth-type life.

Final analysis of all-important temperature data gleaned by the Mariner II space probe in its Dec. 14 fly-by of Venus is taking longer than expected, a top Mariner Project official said Friday.

It will be a "few more weeks" before scientists will announce their findings, said R. J. Parks in addressing the closing session of a space medicine symposium at Brooks Air Force Base. Parks is an official of California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, the nerve center of the Mariner project.

At the same time, Parks disclosed that space scientists may attempt to re-establish contact with Mariner in September when she approaches to about 40 million miles from the earth.

Contact was lost, as expected, after Mariner had soared 54 million miles from the earth.

Various scientific findings made by Mariner—en route to and in the fly-by of Venus—have already been announced.

But the answer to the major question of whether Venus has a surface temperature of 600 to 700 degrees Fahrenheit as suggested by some previous non-Satellite studies remains locked in reams of data radioed to earth from the probe's electronic sensors or "eyes" as she scooted by 21,000 miles from Venus.

So do possible answers to such questions as does the atmosphere of Venus contain a water vapor, and what are some of her surface features?

New Masters Degree OK'd For Northeast

The State Board of Education has authorized Northeast Louisiana State College to grant three additional masters degrees, Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast has announced.

Already the third largest in enrollment of graduate students of all the institutions under the State Board of Education; Northeast now adds the Master of Arts degree in English and in history; the Master of Science degree in biology, chemistry, geology, mathematics, and physics; and the Master of Music degree.

These degree offerings will not require the student to take professional education courses.

The graduate school at Northeast opened for the first time in the summer of 1961 with the degrees of Master of Music Education, Master of Arts in Education, Master of Science in Education, and Master of Education. The college will continue to grant these degrees, along with the three additional graduate degrees.

"The addition of the three new degrees will enable us definitely to strengthen our program in graduate studies," Dr. Walker said.

Canada Liberal Fires Opening Campaign Shot

OTTAWA (UPI) — Veteran Liberal Paul Martin, who could be Canada's next foreign minister, fired the opening shot Friday in a campaign leading up to what experts now predict will be another stalemate in national elections.

Martin, health minister in the Liberal government prior to 1957 and a member of parliament since 1935, flew to Halifax, Nova Scotia, for two speeches aimed at giving his party first blood in the rugged campaign ahead.

The political parties still were concentrating most of their attention on basic campaign planning and strategy. Spokesmen for all four parties indicated the cross-country battle wouldn't get under way in earnest much before Feb. 25. Election day is April 8.

Conservative headquarters said Labor Minister Michael Starr was the only cabinet member who would make a weekend speech to a political audience. He was to deliver "a few off-the-cuff remarks" to a Conservative meeting in Pickering, Ont., Saturday night.

In the relative calm following the political crisis that culminated in defeat of the Conservative government Monday night and dissolution of the 25th Parliament the next day, conversation on parliament hill swung ahead to the possible result of the April vote.

While there was near-unanimous sentiment that a strong and stable government was needed to meet such key problems as nuclear defense, bi-culturalism, international trade and economic growth, many experienced observers suggested the nation could well face another minority government.

These experts speculated that, despite the shattering events of recent days, the Conservatives would retain much of the blanket support in western Canada they received last June. At the same time, they ruled out a Conservative majority on grounds the party couldn't make the required gains in either Ontario or Quebec.

The Liberals, faced with apparent weakness in the West, would have to make a particularly strong showing in central Canada — at least 40 seats in Quebec was an often-quoted figure — if they could hope for a majority in the 265-seat commons.

U.S. Opens New Radio 'Pipeline'

GREENVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The United States opened a new radio pipeline into living rooms around the world Friday with the dedication of a mammoth new Voice of America transmitter here.

Ceremonies putting the $23-million facility into operation included an address by President Kennedy, who spoke from Washington by VOA shortwave radio.

The dedication speech was made by Edward R. Murrow, director of the U.S. Information Agency, who said the new facility is 50 times stronger than any commercial broadcasting station in the country.

President Kennedy said the giant transmitter, spread over 6,000 acres, will make it possible for more people to hear America's message in countries where the government tries to jam U.S. broadcasts.

Other communications facilities can broadcast to other countries, Kennedy said, but facilities such as this one can take this nation's message directly into the home of the people.

Murrow, who heads the VOA's parent agency, said the station here represents the greatest single unit of the Voice of America's expansion.

He said the United States remains third in hours of international broadcasting, behind Radio Moscow and Radio Peking.

"But this ill-balance we shall redress," he declared.

After Murrow's speech, engineers threw the switches which set the mighty station into operation, broadcasting music, news and commentary around the world.

Murrow flew here from Washington with 50 other officials, including eight congressmen, five from North Carolina.

The shortwave transmitter will broadcast to Latin America, Eastern Europe, Moscow and Africa. It uses five million watts, equal to the combined shortwave power of all the other VOA facilities around the world.

Henry Loomis, director of the VOA, who presided over the dedication ceremonies, said the agency hopes to add another five million watts of shortwave power by modernizing its facilities in the United States, and an additional five million watts with new stations in northern Greece and the Philippines.

The station here is on three sites, and one is a receiving site. Combined, they occupy more than 6,000 acres.

Programs originating in Washington are beamed to the receiving site, and sent over microwaves from there to the transmitters to be broadcast around the world.

The facility has been under construction for three years. It will operate on an annual budget of $2.5 million, with a staff of 104.

MANNED BY CREW OF 39

Tanker, Hot Cargo Reported Missing

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI)—A big grey-hulled tanker loaded with a "hot" cargo of molten sulphur and manned by a crew of 39 was missing Friday on a run between Texas and Virginia.

An "urgent" broadcast was flashed to surface ships to be on the lookout for the vessel, the 7,240-ton Marine Sulphur Queen. A two-ocean air search was launched.

Coast Guard planes took off from Elizabeth City, N.C., St. Petersburg, Fla., Miami, Fla., and Biloxi, Miss., to scour the sea lanes between here and the Gulf port of Beaumont, Tex.

A Norfolk agent, Hasler & Co., said the ship should have checked in by radio at noon Tuesday and again Wednesday. No word was heard either day.

Reports Prove False

Following broadcast of the alert, the Coast Guard was kept busy running down reports that the ship had been sighted. All the early reports involved other vessels.

Authorities had few theories on the whereabouts of the ship, but several speculated that perhaps the vessel had detoured to avoid the winter storms that has kicked up heavy seas in the Atlantic in recent days.

This, they said, could result in a delay of a day or two.

The sulphur carried by the tanker was stored in heavily insulated steel tanks. It is kept in a molten state by a series of steam coils that maintain the temperature in the tanks at 265 degrees.

Minimizes Danger

The operators of the ship, Marine Transport Corp. of New York, said the sulphur cargo was no more dangerous than other cargoes, and less dangerous than gasoline.

The Coast Guard said the ship had a white superstructure with a black smokestack. A blue letter "M", superimposed on a white diamond, is painted on the stack.

The ship, built at Chester, Pa., in 1944, originally was named the Esso New Haven, but became the Marine Sulphur Queen in 1960.

Gunman Robs Hospital Bank

BETHESDA, Md. (UPI)—A gunman disguised as a workman Friday robbed the Bethesda Naval Hospital Bank of an estimated $30,000, the FBI said.

The bandit held up three women tellers, stuffed his loot in a pillow-case, and fled.

Officials said the bandit stayed in the bank after it closed, on the pretext of being a workman. When he was alone with the women, the bandit announced the holdup.

Police said the man carried a knife along with his gun. After he collected the money from the teller he vanished down a hall outside the door of the hospital.

Blonde Socialite Testifies In Murder Hearing

BOSTON (UPI) — Blonde socialite Suzanne Clift told a superior court hearing Friday that she believed she was pregnant the day before her Italian boyfriend was shot to death.

Wearing a blue one-piece maternity frock, the 21-year-old niece of actor Montgomery Clift testified in hushed tones for about one hour 15 minutes in Suffolk Superior Court.

Miss Clift is accused of shooting to death Piero B. Brentani, 27, an electronics engineer, on the night of Sept. 30, 1962, a Saturday, in the Beacon Hill town house she shared with her socialite grandmother.

Brentani's nude body was found three days later in Miss Clift's padlocked bedroom. Police said he had been shot in the back of the head with a .22 caliber slug.

The girl stood mute when arraigned last Nov. 27 on a murder charge. She was arrested on the day following the discovery of Brentani's body after she made a mysterious flying trip to Rio de Janeiro.

Friday's hearing was called to determine if she is mentally capable of standing trial for first-degree murder. She has been undergoing mental tests for the past 70 days at the Massachusetts Mental Health Center in Boston.

Questioned Friday by her attorney, Claude B. Cross, Miss Clift said that she was examined by a doctor at Boston Lying-In Hospital on the day before Brentani's murder.

She said she told the doctor she "thought" she was pregnant. The doctor said further tests were needed to establish definitely her condition.

Later during the questioning she told the court that she was about five months pregnant.

Officers Ordered To Dispose Of Seized Whiskey

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) —Circuit Judge Leon Hendrick ordered officers today to smash a $50,000 shipment of whisky seized here last December.

Hendrick overruled claims by Rankin County liquor figure Kenneth Muse that the liquor was secretly en route to Alabama and not subject to Mississippi dry laws.

An attorney for John Hall of Tuscaloosa, Ala., who was not at the hearing, said Hall would appeal the verdict.

Hendrick ordered a bond of more than $30,000 on the whisky pending the appeal.

Muse claimed the 658 cases of liquor seized by Jackson police Dec. 13 was bound from Tallulah, La., to Tuscaloosa and said he had sold it to Hall after having his courier buy it in the name of the Muse wholesale firm.

He said he and Hall hoped to escape tax laws of both Mississippi and Alabama with the arrangement.

"The court cannot be imposed on in this manner," Hendrick said. "If this liquor was in good faith being transported from Louisiana to Alabama," it would be immune from seizure.

"I'm flatly convinced,' he said, "the liquor was Mr. Muses and was going to be delivered to him in Rankin County. The liquor involved shall be destroyed.'

Eight Children Burn To Death In Toronto Fire

TORNOTO (UPI)—Eight terrified children burned to death Friday after their weary father dozed off while making tea for his wife—a night-shift postal worker who arrived a short time later.

"I might as well have died, too," said Roy French, a 36-year-old truck driver.

The blaze destroyed his home and two adjacent houses, forcing some 60 persons to flee in 7-below zero temperatures shortly before 2 a.m. EST.

The victims were Ann 17, Albert 16, Eileen 14, Allison 13, John 12, Linda 8, Sharon 6 and Billie 4.

Mrs. French collapsed from shock when she arrived home to find the narrow street in west central Toronto jammed with fire engines, firemen, police and spectators while flames roared from her home. French said he must have dozed off after plugging in an electric kettle so he would have a pot of tea for his 32-year-old wife.

"I woke up because my throat was sore and then I smelled smoke and heard one of the kids calling for me," he said. "I tried to get up the stairs but there was too much smoke and fire."

Neighbor William Bartlett, who collapsed trying to save the youngsters, said "I will never forget those children crying. They were shouting 'Daddy, I can't get out.'"

All eight were trapped in their bedrooms. Four bodies were found in the front bedroom, two in the middle and two in the rear.

The blaze threatened a row of 10 houses until firemen subdued it three hours later.

French said that after he was forced back from the stairs, he ran outside and tried to reach the bedrooms by an outside back stairways. But he was again driven back.

District Fire Chief William Caron said the kettle apparently became red hot and touched off the fire.

Dog Wagon Set For Action As First In City

West Monroe officials said Friday the city's dog wagon definitely would begin patrolling the streets by Monday.

West Monroe's first dog catcher, Bobby Jack Bayles, was hired last week as an answer to the packs of animals which have been prowling the streets, according to Chief of Police Jeff W. Caldwell.

Bayles has spent this week undergoing indoctrination at the parish dog pound at Selman Field. He will drive a used, specially-equipped panel delivery truck.

Caldwell and Mayor J. Allan Norris have noted an increase in recent months of dog complaint calls. Persons with such complaints are instructed to phone the police department, which will relay messages to Bayles.

Both tagged and untagged animals are subject to impounding, the two officials stressed. Licensed dogs, out of their owners' yards and creating a nuisance, are as liable to pick-up as ownerless dogs running at large.

Owners have been urged to keep a tight check on their pets.

Meeting Is Held By Postmasters

RUSTON (Special) — About 150 postmasters from over the state gathered at the Holiday Inn in Ruston Friday for a district conference of the Louisiana Chapter of the National Association of Postmasters.

West Monroe Postmaster Homer B. Roark, the organization's secretary - treasurer, was in attendance. Chapter president is Austin D. Smith, postmaster at Rayville.

Prior to Friday's meeting, an executive board meeting was held Thursday evening with approximately 40 postmasters present. The general session was held Friday morning following registration.

Hosts for the conference were Mrs. Lillian T. Pearce, Ruston postmistress, and her daughter, Mrs. Katherine M. Boucher, postmistress at Springhill.

A View Of All The News

Compiled From Associated Press and United Press International

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The leader of Britain's 2.5 million Methodists called on Pope John XXIII Friday to thank the Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church for his forts to achieve unity among all Christians.

The Rev. Leslie Davison, president of the British Conference of the Methodist Church, said the Pope had replied:

"Let us forget the sad centuries when men met only to quarrel. Let us meet to love one another."

The Methodist minister told a news conference after his half - hour audience that he had informed the Pope "of the welcome that many of us in Britain are giving to the lead the Pope has given to the ecumenical movement."

"The Pope and I share the feeling that this whole movement has been called into being by God and that we must carry out his will," he said.

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy will spend part of the weekend in New York on a social and private visit, it was learned from official sources Friday.

The President is due to arrive Saturday between 4 and 5 p.m. at La Guardia Airport's marine terminal. He will stay at the Carlyle Hotel.

He is scheduled to return to Washington on Sunday between 2 and 3 p.m.

The President's wife, and daughter Caroline have been here all week and are expected to stay through the weekend, probably returning to Washington on Sunday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roswell L. Gilpatric will leave his job as deputy secretary of defense sometime between June and October, a Pentagon spokesman said Friday.

The spokesman said in answer to questions that an exact time has not been set by Gilpatric.

When Gilpatric took the job, the spokesman said, it was with the understanding he would remain for a minimum of two years but not for the four years of the Kennedy administration. Recently, vacancies in the New York law firm of which Gilpatric was a member, prompted his move to return to the firm this summer.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Friday that 10,000 men will be drafted for the Army in April — the largest monthly quota since January 1962.

The April quota is 1,000 greater than that for March and compares with 4,000 men called in both January and February.

Draft calls will be larger than normal for the next several months as the army builds to a temporary increase of 20,000 to replace men completing their service. The Army is authorized a total of 980,000 men by next July.

As usual, the Navy, Marines and Air Force will not draw on Selective Service during April.

BERLIN (UPI) — The new Communist head of East Germany's state - directed agriculture was revealed Friday as a former member of the Nazi SS who won a medal for aiding the Nazi takeover of Danzig.

He is Prof. Karl Heinz Bartsch, 39, whose appointment was announced Thursday night as part of a government shuffle that gave more power to Communist party chief and head of state Walter Ulbricht.

As head of the new Agricultural Council, Bartsch will supervise collective farms and try to straighten out production failures that cause constant food shortages. These and other shortcomings caused the dismissal of another top Ulbricht lieutenant, planning chief Karl Mewis, last month.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Victims of nervous breakdowns need hospital care only when their behavior is acutely disordered, three University of California psychiatrists said Friday.

Writing in the Archives of General Psychiatry, published by the American Medical Association, the three staff members of the university's Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute, San Francisco, said three to six weeks of hospitalization may be all that is needed for persons with nervous breakdowns.

Man Takes $20 Gamble Over Liberty Nickel

Now he's wondering whether he squandered $19.95 or made something like $49,999.95 on the transaction.

The coin appears to be an honest-to-goodness 1913 Liberty Head nickel. Rare coin experts said only five 1913 Liberty Heads are known to exist and the going price is roughly $50,000.

Shockley's nickel may be simply another coin with an altered date — worth five cents and some dreams of what might have been.

Shockley, not a collector but a fellow who's willing to take a chance, said he persuaded an unidentified man to part with the coin.

The man happened into a service station where Shockley and some friends were killing time. He displayed the nickel. There was some dickering.

"Lay $20 in front of me and it's yours," the man said.

Shockley did just that.

William Irwin, president of the Muncie Coin and Stamp Club, and several banking officials here said the coin looked like the real McCoy.

Muncie's rare coin collectors said catalogues list the 1913 Liberty Head Nickel as worth $12,500. They said an uncirculated coin of the same vintage recently brought a bid of $48,000 at a New York auction.

In Chicago, a rare coin expert at Marshall Field and Co. Department Store said a mintmaster in Philadelphia struck off five liberty heads—and only five—in 1913 when the buffalo was the established decoration. The whereabout of the five are regularly known in trade circles, he said, and the precious nickels are now worth about $50,000 each.

ALGERIA APPLIES

ROME (AP) — Algeria has applied for membership in the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization, the group announced. Present membership is 100.

Caracas Police Round Up Red Symphathizers

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Police rounded up Communist sympathizers Friday following a night of terror staged in Caracas by extremists retaliating for a government raid on headquarters of the Armed Liberation Front.

At least four bombs exploded in the city during the night. Four persons were severely injured including a 14-year old school girl. Bomb damage was estimated at $10,000 in addition to $2,500 in damage done by armed arsonists in an attack on the American Chamber of Commerce.

Shortly after midnight, terrorists fired on the car of Raul Leoni, president of the government's majority Democratic Action party. Leoni was unhurt but a passerby was wounded.

Leoni's name was on the top of a list captured in the raid alongside other top political and anti - Communist figures marked for assassination by the terrorists.

According to the police, the terrorists had detailed information on the hours and working schedules of each of their intended victims, as well as "target dates" for their murder.

Police said they were "fully prepared" for any Communist attempt to unleash an all-out wave of terror in the capital. The Liberation Front already has announced "total war" against the Romulo Betancourt regime. The president is scheduled to leave in mid-month or a state visit t Washington.

"We'll lock up every Commu nist in Venezuela, if necessary," a police official said. He said that membership rolls captured in the police raid would facilitate such a roundup.

The list, police said, include the names of leftist Central Uni versity students and the dates o which they were to leave th capital to join anti-governmen guerrilla forces in the hills in th interior.

Thaw Spreads Over Europe; Floods Feared

LONDON (UPI)—A slow thaw spread across Europe Friday, triggering fears of widespread flooding when melting snows from the worst winter of the century swell icebound rivers and other frozen waterways.

Floods were reported in Spain and Yugoslavia. Alerts were sounded in Britain and on the continent. Dynamite and other explosives were used to break up icepacks to open passages in rivers and help speed the flow of waters.

British weathermen could not say if the warming trend signalled the end of the 47-day "deep freeze," blamed for the deaths of more than 1,500 persons across Europe.

The cold and series of blizzards caused millions of dollars in crop losses and took a heavy toll of livestock and wildlife. Wolves, wild boars, foxes and reindeer were reported driven from native haunts into civilized areas in search of food.

Farmers in Belgium, Holland and northern France reporte wild boars and foxes running i packs. Authorities said wolve that came out of the mountain of central Europe had killed thou sands of cattle and sheep.

ANNUAL EVENT SET

Washington Preps For Mardi Gras

WASHINGTON (Special) — Famed Louisiana singer Gene Austin, along with Morton Downey and Carol Bruce, will headline the list of entertainers at the 1963 Washington Mardi Gras Ball, Rep. James H. Morrison announced Friday.

Morrison, chairman of this year's ball, said the gala event on Feb. 23 will be a tribute to Louisiana's press, broadcasting and advertising industry and promises to be the "biggest, gayest and best" of the annual celebrations held here.

King of the ball, whose name will be withheld according to long-standing tradition until the eve of the ball, will be a representative of Louisiana's advertising industry. The queen will be a co-ed from Louisiana State University.

Twenty-five Louisiana festival queens will be flown to Washington to form the queen's court. Each member of the court is a reigning beauty from a Louisiana festival held during the past year.

Another 12 young ladies from the Pelican State will serve as maids-in-waiting to the queen.

The costumed Krewe will be larger than ever this year, numbering more than 100 men. Mardi Gras tradition forbids naming the captain of the Krewe, so the Junior Senator from Louisiana remains anonymous in the post.

A Dixieland band will alternate with a dance band before and after the hour-long pageant of the queens and other royalty. Barnee Breeskin has been named the official narrator.

The ball has been a sellout since tickets became available early last month from the Louisiana State Society, which is headed by Felix Broussard. Broussard has managed the thousand of details in the ball for the past decade.

About 2,000 people — the capacity of the Sheraton-Park Hotel's grand ballroom, will attend, including high-ranking members of the administration, Congress and the diplomatic corps.

Negotiator Optimistic For Geneva

little headway since it first got under way last March.

Foster plans to deliver the principal U.S. speech at next weeks reopening, represent the United States at atomic test-ban sessions, then return to Washington the following week to meet previous commitments.

The Kennedy administration is sending Foster to the conference to stress continued U.S. interest in disarmament. U.S. negotiator Charles C. Steele is slated to stay on as acting head of the U.S. delegation.

Authorities summed up the U.S. position on the eve of the reopening of the negotiations this way:

Even though the Soviet Union terminated last month's talks, there is some evidence that the Kremlin still is interested in an agreement. Premier Khrushchev's renewed acceptance of the principle of on-site inspection allows hope for an accord, even though the two sides still are far apart on the number of inspections.

Secondly, the United States will concentrate on measures for reducing the risks of accidental war with prospects for accord comparatively good because of the Cuban brink-of-war experience affecting both sides.

Kassem Rule In Iraq Is Said Ended

warned that violators would be shot on sight.

The announced leader of the uprising is Col. Abdel Kerim Mustafa, 35, described as an old paratroop commander and Arab nationalist, discharged from the army three years ago for political activities.

"In the name of God, people of Iraq!" said a broadcast communique. "We have been able with the help of God to destroy the enemy of God and of the people, Abdel Karim Kassem and his gang, who have used the country for their interests and who choked liberty and disrupted the law."

Baghdad radio announced creation of a six-officer "National Council of the Revolutionary Command" headed by Mustafa. The council promised to adhere to the U.N. Charter, honor all international agreements, pursue a neutralist foreign policy and practice democracy at home.

Assuring all foreigners their lives and properties would be safe, the communique said: "The new movement will work to increase our financial potential and guarantee that oil will continue to flow abroad."

Kassem had announced he intended to nationalize the Iraq Petroleum Co., controlled by British and U.S. interests. Iraq is the third largest oil producer in the Middle East, with a production of a million barrels daily and a reserve of 12 billion barrels.

Reports to Washington and London indicated the 400 Americans and 950 Britons in Iraq were safe.

Western diplomatic sources in Beirut said the uprising apparently was started by the 4th Armored Division at its base of Habbaniya on the Euphrates River. Then the rebels moved 50 miles east to Baghdad.

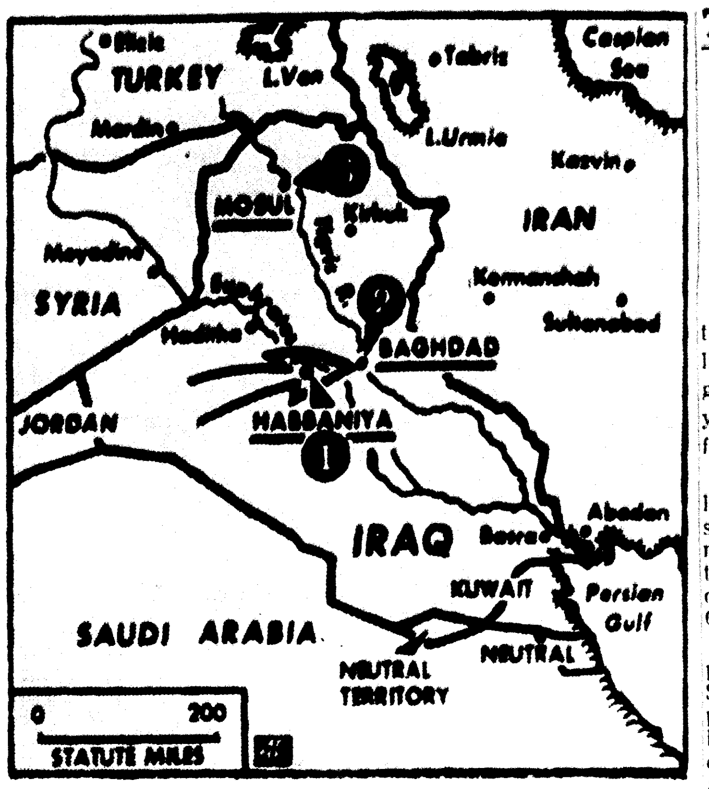
The 4th Division, diplomats said was known to be under the influence of the Ba'ath Socialist party, which favors Nasser. The commander of one regiment is Col. Ghaleb Makki el Hashimi. He was named in communiques as No. 2 man on the revolutionary council and director of Baghdad's armored units.

The first hint that Westerners in Baghdad had of the uprising came when one or two rebel planes flew in low and began attacking targets in the capital.

Then the sound of shooting echoed in Baghdad's ancient streets. It rose in such fury that residents fled to safety and soon the streets were deserted, except for soldiers.

The heaviest fighting centered around the Defense Ministry, where Kassem usually has slept since he was wounded by an assassin's machine gun bullets in October of 1959.

There was an ebb after planes strafed the building at 1 p.m. And a Beirut resident calling Baghdad said residents told him all was quiet.



REBEL FORCES from Habbaniya, 1, arrow, were reported to have led push which crushed regime of Abdel Karim Kassem in Baghdad, 2. Some reports had Kassem slain in Baghdad. Air base at Mosul, 3, was said to be supporting revolt. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Liberia President Seeks Fifth Term

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP)— William V. S. Tubman, Liberia's president since 1944, has been nominated to seek a fifth term.

In accepting the nomination, Tubman said he encourages opposition to his True Whig party but that opposition parties cannot hope to win power unless legally elected by the people. There are no organized opposition parties. The elections are scheduled for next May.

Liberia was colonized in 1822 by freed American slaves. It has been a republic since 1847 and has a constitution modeled after that of the United States.

TWO YEARS FROM NOW

New Filibuster Battle Planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Frustrated liberals turned to the public Friday in an effort to lay the groundwork for another battle two years from now over the senate's filibuster rule.

The liberals conceded they had lost the battle during the current session of Congress. They said any major effort to give the Senate a tighter rule against filibusters was over until the start of the next Congress in 1965.

But they said they were making progress in the long war against Southern talkathons that have repeatedly stifled civil rights legislation. And they said they would do their "utmost in the months ahead to make all Americans cognizant of what has occurred and its implications."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a leader in the drive for a revised gag rule, said he planned to make sure the public knew the will of the majority was thwarted during the battle this year.

He referred to the fact that the liberals mustered 54 votes for cloture in their climactic effort Thursday.

Javits said he still planned to make one minor effort during the current Congress. He said sometime this year he would offer a new rule change amendment, have it referred to committee and then see what could be done about getting it out for Senate consideration.

But he agreed with Democratic whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., that there would not be another major effort until 1965.

In their effort to cut off debate and bring the rule change to a vote during the current session, the liberals fell 10 votes short of the two-thirds needed under the existing rule. But they pointed pride to the 54 votes they obtained — a new peak in the rule change movement.

Republicans produced 18 of the votes in favor of halting the Southern filibuster against this year's rule revision proposal. Most of the 15 Republicans who voted against cloture were either from the West or from small states.

Police, Workers Clash In Italy During Strike

ROME (UPI) — Police and demonstrators battled with rocks and water hoses in two Italian cities Friday during a four-hour general strike called throughout the nation.

Authorities reported a "number" of workers and "some police" were injured in Siracusa and that 10 persons turned up at hospitals in Brescia after a clash there.

Police detained a total of 20 persons in both places.

In Brescia, about 2,000 workers paraded through town to one of the industrial plants involved in a metal workers dispute.

Police said the demonstrators began heaving rocks. Police answered with tear gas bombs.

At Siracus police used high pressure water hoses to disperse a few hundred workers who lay down in the central square, blocking traffic. The workers hurled rocks when police tried to move them on.

Elsewhere, the strike, organized by National Communist and non-Communist unions, was orderly.

At a Rome rally there were almost as many police as strikers. No incidents occurred.

Polio Victory Day

The Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Ouachita Parish Medical Society, has undertaken a gargantuan task but one that is well worth the effort. Sunday will be Victory Over Polio Day in Ouachita and surrounding parishes. The new Sabin oral vaccine will be administered in an effort to immunize the area against dread polio.

This is a movement that will not only protect the individual against polio, but, if successful, will knock the disease out of the area. Dr. F. E. McCarty, president of the medical society, has estimated that if 85 per cent of the residents of Ouachita Parish take the vaccine Sunday, then polio will cease to exist here. The new drug not only immunizes the person taking it but also eliminates him as a carrier. This, of course, halts spread of the disease.

This has been the dream of medical men for many years - - the annihilation of polio. The Monroe Jaycees - - now joined by the West Monroe chapter - - have undertaken to rid our parish of polio. But they cannot do it by merely conducting the campaign. The residents of the parish must avail themselves of the vaccine. If sufficient numbers of persons are not immunized then the efforts of the Jaycees will have been for nothing. If the citizens of the parish do not take the vaccine then the chief effect, that of getting the germ out of the parish, will not have been accomplished.

Polio vaccination clinics will be set up parish-wide Sunday with make-up clinics to follow. It behooves everyone to make every possible effort to get out and take advantage of this opportunity to eradicate one of the leading scourges of our youth - - and grownups, too.

Filibuster Is Upheld

By a vote of 54 to 42, with a two-thirds vote required, the senate showed it is opposed to a change in its rules which would close debate on any issue by majority rule.

This was a great victory for southern members of congress but, because they believe simple majority rule in some instances leads to instability, some so-called liberals joined with the southerners and northern conservatives in voting against allowing senate debate to be cut off by a bare majority.

Although he has been given a perfect score by the leftist Americans for Democratic action on favoring civil rights legislation, Senator Daniel K. Inouye, D., Hawaii, opposed the change to majority rule because he believes the constitutional issue is vital.

The majority leader, Senator Mike Mansfield Montana, is a liberal. The minority leader, Senator Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois, is a moderate. Both voted against the majoritarians.

A two-thirds vote in favor of the proposition was required to change the rule but proponents were 10 or more votes short of the required number. With 96 votes cast, at least 64 would have been required for a majority.

Prior to the vote, Virginia W. Kelly, a Washington correspondent, had written: "What Los Angeles, New York, Chicago and Philadelphia want, they will get if the majoritarians of the senate have their way."

Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the Democratic whip, and Senator Thomas Kuchel of California, minority whip of California, voted with the majoritarians, as did Senator Clair Engle, D. Calif., and all other senators from the states with the largest cities, except Senator Dirksen.

Two of the leading debate-limit advocates, New York Republican Senators Kenneth Keating and Jacob Javits, demanded that Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson rule the senate is not a continuing body and can make its own rules at the opening of each congress. Johnson said he had no power to rule on a constitutional issue and presented the issue to the senate.

Senator Mansfield said Johnson accepted the view of former Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and all their predecessors since 1803 that the vice-president does not have the power to rule on a constitutional matter.

This is the second time recently that Johnson has displeased the ultra-liberals and has performed a service for those believing in constitutional government. Only a few days ago he was criticized for not using his authority to whip senate members into line behind New Frontier measures. Johnson properly replied that, as presiding officer of the senate, it was his duty to assist members of the senate in carrying on the matters before them but not to act as a dictator.

Incidentally, many who believed Johnson would make a better president than John Kennedy have had that belief strongly confirmed. At least he shows some regard for constitutional government and, with him as president, there probably would have been no effort to set up a family dynasty and no side dealing with Russia.

In the debate, Inouye, the Democratic senator from Hawaii, quoted Walter Lippmann, who wrote, "The genius of the American system, unique, I believe, among the democracies of the world, is that it limits all power - - including the power of the majority."

Lippmann also wrote that simple majority rule is not the general principal of the constitution. He explained that constitutional amendments, the overriding of the presidential veto and expulsion of senators require the vote of two-thirds of all senators elected. Treaties and impeachments require two-thirds of those present and voting.

It is believed by some that freedom of speech, the press, and religion would be threatened if sheer monolithic majority rule could prevail.

Many were alarmed by Senator Javits' recent statement on television that 30 million people live in the area between Boston and Norfolk and that future presidential candidates must be responsive to the demands of the megalopolis. This led to the fear that a few big cities might make the decision and direct the course for the entire nation.

Preservation of unlimited debate in the senate is expected to be a powerful weapon in the hands of southerners and other conservatives who oppose such malodorous New Frontier programs as medicare, urban redevelopment, extended foreign aid and socialized farming under strict government regulations.

Many believe the senate's rejection of limited debate may go so far as to prevent this country, during the present congress at least, from losing all its individual freedoms, which are intruded upon and threatened more and more by the New Frontier administration.

Everybody Supersonic

Two major industries, aviation and petroleum, are pooling their resources to develop a supersonic plane which, within a decade, will enable anyone to fly from New York to London in less than three hours.

The plane will be able to cruise at speeds of more than 2,000 miles an hour, 15 miles above the earth's surface, and will carry from 90 to 150 passengers.

When these planes are put into general use a person can be anywhere on earth and still not be far from home when the time to return is considered. There was a time when a 30-mile trip with a good horse took more time than the New York - London flight eventually will require.

More $1,000 Dinners Seen

At Least Three Others Planned By Delighted Kennedys After First Proves Lush Lucrative

How the Kennedy administration loves those $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinners!

The one held in the capital last month, to celebrate the New Frontier's second anniversary, was so lushly lucrative that at least three others are contemplated.

The next one will be in Los Angeles in April. Others definitely slated are in Chicago and New York, with Miami a strong possibility. The dates are still open.

The President will attend each of these affairs and deliver a speech

According to National Chairman John Bailey, the anniversary celebration netted a clear $1.2 million.

Ambitious goal of the $1,000-a-plate dinner plan is to raise $2.5 million for the Democratic committee's coffers. Bailey and his lieutenants estimate that is needed to meet the committee's mounting operating expenses and to prepare for next year's tough presidential battle.

Privately they now expect it to be rough and costly, and far more uncertain than they hoped it would be.

Bailey and National Treasurer Richard Maguire are no longer talking about raising money to pay the committee's debt from the 1960 race. Actually that was cleared more than a year ago, but for a long time this once $900,000 obligation was a handy bogeyman to wheedle contributions from the faithful — and others.

Now Bailey and Maguire are stressing the national committee's heavy expenses and need to get ready for next year's arduous election struggle.

WHERE IT'S GOING — Committee insiders say its expenses are running at around $100,000 a month.

One reason cited for this is a "fixed charge" of $20,000 a month — $10,000 each to the Senate and House Democratic Campaign Committees. In return for these monthly checks, the two committees have merged their fund-raising activities with those of the national committee.

Also under consideration is setting up a pulse-feeling agency in the national committee.

This proposed polling outfit would supplant the private organizations that have been hired for this work. The President and his political leaders are strong believers in polls and use them constantly. But they had some disconcerting experiences with private pollsters last year.

One was in Kentucky, where Republican Senator Thruston Morton won re-election by a big majority. The administration's pollsters came up with figures showing he would be decisively defeated. They were equally wrong in adjoining Indiana. There the pollsters gave the victory to Republican Senator Homer Capehart, only to have his youthful Democratic opponent, Birch Bayh, win by a good margin.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy, the real backstage ruler of the national ruler committee, favors establishing its own polling organization. The President also is credited as being for that.

The big problem is how much it will cost, and that is now under study.

ALWAYS UNDER FOOT — There is one Washington news photographer who is thoroughly fed up "with the Kennedys," and makes no bones about it

He voiced these indignant feelings after an experience with Senator Ted Kennedy, ambitious 30-year-old brother of the President. The photographer, assigned to cover a dinner for new senators, spotted Wisconsin's new Senator Gaylord Nelson chatting with Louisiana's veteran Senator Russell Long.

The cameraman asked them to pose for a shot. As he was focusing to snap a picture, young Kennedy, who had been standing nearby, strode over and without being asked placed himself between Long and Nelson, with an arm on each so he couldn't be squeezed out.

Angry but unable to do anything about the matter, the photographer snapped one picture and then stalked away, remarking loudly:

"That's what I can't stand about these Kennedys. They're always pushing themselves. You can never get away from them. They not only tell you what do do, but how to do it; what profile they want taken, and how many pictures. I'm fed up, but how do you get rid of them?"

POLITICALS — Attorney General Robert Kennedy is still being needled about that long-standing vacancy on the federal bench in New Mexico. This appointment has gone unfilled for nearly a year, with no explanation from the Attorney General, or his brother, the President. The needler is Federal Judge Waldo Rogers, Albuquerque, an Eisenhower appointee. Recently, outspoken Rogers remarked to lawyers in his courtroom, "Don't bother Bobby about the urgent need for another judge in our state. He's too busy arguing the first case of any kind in his life." . . . Representative John Shelley's campaign for Mayor of San Francisco this year will be well financed. At a so-called "informal fund - raising luncheon" attended by 30-odd businessmen, more than $120,000 was pledged to finance his race in the fall. Foremost among those present and contributing were George Killion, head of American President Lines, Clarence Heller stock broker, and Thomas Mellon, former San Francisco Police Commissioner.

Likes Late Baby

Son Born When Mother 38 Proves Joy And Ray Of Sunshine

I continue to receive many letters from apprehensive women who think that having a baby after 30 is "too late." They are concerned that they won't be physically fit for delivery; that the rigors of bringing up a child are more than the woman after 30-35 can bear. Perhaps the following letters will give them the courage to do what seems to come naturally to so many women.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I read Mrs. X's letter to you and just want to tell her to be happy she is having a baby at the age of 42. I had a 16-year-old boy and another 12-year-old when I had my third boy at 38. What a joy and a ray of sunshine he has been to us all. He is now 14, and has three nephews and one niece, two sisters-in-law and all of us love him. He has kept my husband and me young and interested in life. God bless the late babies. — Mrs. H.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I just wait to read your health column, it's just wonderful — especially when you try to give courage to women who are afraid to have babies when they get to be 30 and over. I remember the advice you gave to that woman on a late pregnancy. She doesn't realize how wonderful it is to have a baby late in life.

I had my four children early in life and then after 17 years I had a beautiful baby. I was 48 years old at the time and had him normally and at home. For that matter, I had all my babies at home (which may sound old - fashioned, but I recommend it). My baby now is 14 years old and I sure hate to see him grow up so fast. Between you and me (I am over 60 now) having a baby late in life sort of makes your health even better. — Mrs. E.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Personally, I recommend it when it is a question of "better late than never" where child - bearing is concerned. I had my first baby at 44, my second at 45, exactly 12½ months later! To my husband and me it is the most wonderful thing that has ever happened to us, even though it has also been the toughest problem physically that I've had to solve. But that's a personal thing, because I have arthritis, bad feet and many other ailments.

But I had no trouble at all when both boys were born. They are now 4½ and 3½ years old, and are absolutely normal, healthy, intelligent youngsters. They drive me nuts but I love it. I wish I had a few more when I was younger, but I did not get married until 39.

The only requirement for having a baby later in your life is that both parents must want it very much. We still marvel when we look at these two little human beings, who give us a lot of trouble, but so much pleasure. We thank God every day that we have them. So I can truthfully say everything is worthwhile regardless of age.

Good luck to all you hesitant mothers! — Mrs. P.

For Mrs. H.: I know of no vitamins or any other medicines which will prevent or cure brown spots which, as you say "come with age." Nevertheless, there are "coverup" ointments and powders which help reduce any sense of disfigurement.

For Mr. G.: Many costly mistakes are made when the patient labels his chronic cough a cigarette cough and therefore goes untreated and undiagnosed for months. Any cough which persists deserves X rays of the chest and other investigation.

Dr. Steinchron's leaflet, "Get The Snooze Habit," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of this newspaper.

Today is Saturday, Feb. 9, the 40th day of 1963 with 325 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Aquarius.

On this day in history:

In 1825, the House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams president.

In 1900, 7,000 construction workers in Chicago voted to strike for an eight-hour day.

In 1943, Japan evacuated Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands, in the face of overwhelming American military superiority.

In 1950, Sen. Joseph McCarthy charged that the State Department was infested with Communists.

RALPH DE TOLEDANO

'Great Guardians'

Red Propagandists Link Kennedy, Khrushchev In That Role

Communist propaganda campaigns are launched from a building at No. 3 Vocelova Street in Prague. For some weeks, a steady stream of directives has issued from that building to the faithful and to professional operatives in Europe, Asia, Africa, and Latin America. They have been instructed to spread the word that Comrade Khrushchev and President Kennedy are the two great guardians of world peace.

Propaganda analysts in Washington have been somewhat puzzled at the spectacle of international Communism handing Mr. Kennedy such a posy. On the face of it, this would seem to indicate a change in the party line — from nastiness to sweetness and light. But it is obvious that the Kremlin and its stooges bear no love for the President of the United States. What they seek, in Madison Avenue terms, is a "merged image," of the two leaders to replace the bad one that resulted from Comrade Khrushchev's missile rattling in Cuba.

There's nothing new about this. During the war years, Stalin played the same game. Millions of bemused people fell for it so that they had difficulty in separating the Roosevelt - Churchill - Stalin trinity. But while the Soviet dictator was posing for pictures with the two leaders of the free world, he was busily plotting against them.

The unchanging nature of the party line is not demonstrated by the grandstand play but by the specifics. A good example is the parallel campaign, again launched from Prague, directed at the House Un-American Activities Committee. There are men of the right, left, and-or center who have expressed criticism of the committee for a variety of reasons. I can number myself among them — though for reasons which would give little aid or comfort to HUAC's real enemies.

The international Communist movement, however, lists "abolition of the House Un-American Activities Committee" as one of seven "essential" steps to Red world domination. This certainly is a flattering comment on the work of the committee. It proves that, whatever its limitations, HUAC has done much to blunt the edge of Red propaganda, espionage, and infiltration in the U. S.

To achieve the destruction of the House Un - American Activities Committee, the Communist movement has for years given currency to a mass of falsehoods about its work and its procedures. Unfortunately, too many well-meaning and patriotic Americans have accepted these falsehoods as truth. The result has been a whole mythology about the investigation of Communism.

It is repeatedly stated that the objectives of HUAC are sound but that its methods are reprehensible. The fact is, however, that the House committee's procedures are far more proper than those of many other Congressional bodies. The Kefauver Committee, which investigated organized crime, and the Senate Labor Rackets Committee (of which Robert F. Kennedy was chief counsel) were far less concerned with the Constitutional rights of witnesses than HUAC — and were praised for their work.

In 1945, HUAC asked the ultra-respectable Brookings Institution to set up standards for determining what were un-American activities. The findings of this foundation have been used as a textbook by HUAC since then. Again, in 1953, the committee published its rules of procedure. It was the first group in the House to do so — and they have since been adopted by other committees. HUAC, unlike its Senate counterparts, forbids one - man subcommittees, and fought successfully to get the House of Representatives to bar this practice.

The American Bar Association, hardly a collection of wild - eyed extremists, has lauded HUAC. A special ABA group was "impressed with the fairness with which hearings before (HUAC) have been conducted." And it noted its satisfaction that "witnesses called to testify . . . are being treated fairly and properly in all respects."

The party line, however, continues to call for the destruction of the "witch - hunting" House Un-American Activities Committee. This propaganda seeps through to those who have no sympathy with Communism. And the mythology persists. If there is any real reason for criticism of HUAC, it is the timidity of its members. There is still much to be put on the record, but HUAC will not fully accomplish its mission until it gets a fair shake from the correspondents who cover it and the public that needs it.

Tax Cut Question

Few Willing To Hazard Guess On What Bill Will Emerge

The Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives began its hearing on the Kennedy tax cut and reform proposals with few among the lawmakers, the executive branch of the Government or the public willing to risk even tentative conclusions as to what kind of legislation will emerge.

That there will be some kind of a tax measure nearly everyone agrees, but with this proviso — a bill will have to be prepared and steered through the House of Representatives by mid-June.

Not until the committee has closed its hearings and began to mark up the bill will any predictions carry much weight. In the two weeks since President Kennedy sent his specifics to Congress on January 24 there have been some strange line-ups. Some groups which were expected to support it have given it a chilly reception.

One thing stands out rather boldly: There is no groundswell for the plan as presented by the president, especially for the reform part of it. Representative Carl Albert, Democrat, Oklahoma, House majority leader, the man responsible for lining up the votes for it, said he hoped the reduction and reform parts could be put in separate bills.

The House Majority Whip, Representative Hale Boggs, Louisiana, said he seriously doubted if the tax reforms part of it, will be adopted this year. There has been nothing to change that outlook in the two weeks members of Congress have had to study the complex 25-page document the president sent to Capitol Hill.

There have been manifestations that the flame of tax reform, beyond that of tax reductions, burn very low outside of the Treasury Department. There are guesses that the President is not likely to fight long and hard for the reform parts of the bill. There are many in Congress who think he may jettison plans for a combined tax reform and tax reduction if the reform efforts threaten to impede early enactment.

Among the mollifications designed to get his tax program was the statement of President Kennedy at a White House press conference that the question of whether tax reforms should come hand in hand with tax reductions was up to the judgement of Congress.

There has always been the group which is convinced that any tax cut should be offset by spending cuts, and spending is on the way up instead of down. The President's estimate is for a $7,800,000,000 deficit in the fiscal year 1963 and $11,900,000,000 for fiscal year 1964. The President's $98,800,000,000 1964 Budget was a fiscal block - buster — a record for any year in our national history, peace or war.

Representative Martha Wright Griffith, Democrat, Michigan, a liberal and the first woman ever to sit on the Ways and Means Committee, conducted a poll i her Congressional District, a middle - income Detroit area, an got an unexpected 1000 answers Seventy per cent of those responding did not want a tax cut withou a cut in Federal spending.

But there is the likelihood tha of a break in the ranks of th troops who now link support o tax cuts with budget cuts ma come. Even Representative Clarence Cannon, chairman of th powerful House Appropriation Committee, who is loaded to tri the budget, has said he migh support a tax cut even if he fail in his efforts to slice spendin

There is every indication th Cannon will have a less tight gri on his Appropriations Committe than he has had in the past. H 50-man committee has had th biggest turnover in its histor with ten new members. At lea eight of them are more liberal spending than the men who th succeeded.

Among the new members of t Appropriations Committee a some who support the position the AFL-CIO that there must n only be the full tax cut ask by the President, but also ins that the nation's unemployme situation "will worsen and teriorate" unless there is a lar er and bolder spending progra than the President recommend

The fiscal doctors disagree the possible effect of many of tax proposals and will air th disagreements in testimony fore the Ways and Means Co mittee. The tussle will last weeks before the question of h much tax cut and for whom, resolved.

The best guess now wo seem to be there will be a cut, probably less than the Pr dent has asked, and that fe any reforms can be expecte

The public is invited to attend the ceremony.

Local Police Kept Busy During Friday

Local law agencies stayed active Friday investigating several burglaries, a moral crime in which three Negroes were arrested and a number of thefts.

The Ouachita Parish sheriff's department arrested three West Monroe Negroes late Friday and were holding them on charges of crime against nature. Sheriff Bailey Grant identified the trio as Jesse Lee Nash, 30, Bobby Ray Smith, 21, and Joseph Sheppard, 21, all of Downing Pines Rd., West Monroe. Nash and Sheppard were being held in the Ouachita Parish jail on the charge but Smith was released to Concordia Parish sheriffs department on five other counts.

The Concordia Parish department wanted Smith on four counts of simple robbery and one charge of attempted rape. No bond had been set on any of the three late Friday.

The sheriffs department was also probing the burglary of T. Sanders Lumber Co. on the Natchitoches Road, West Monroe, which occurred sometime Thursday night or early Friday. An attempt to break into the company safe was unsuccessful. However, an undertermined amount of change was taken from various machines in the office.

In other action Friday, the sheriffs department arrested and then released on a $425 bond a West Monroe man on four counts. O. A. "Joe" Ballard, 43, of 100 Sharon Dr., was arrested on warrants from the Tensas Parish sheriff's department charging him with fire hunting, discharging a firearm on a highway, killing a doe deer and resisting arrest.

The Monroe department filed charges of forgery against a West Monroe man, Billie Ray Reppond, 29, of 1116 Bailey St., Friday after he was returned from Miami, Fla., by a deputy sheriff and Monroe officer. Reppond is charged with the forgery of a check on a local finance company in Oct., 1962, for $86.20.

Monroe police also filed charges of theft against a Monroe woman in connection with a shoplifting incident. Nell Elliott, 32, of 105 Texas Ave., was booked at 10:25 a.m. on a charge of theft after allegedly taking around $2 worth of meat at Safeway Store on Plum Street.

The Monroe department was also probing the burglary of LaCara's Grocery, at 1125 Grammont St., which occurred sometime Thursday night or early Friday morning. An undetermined amount of grocery items were taken from the store, according to the owner, Mrs. Sam LaCara of 1605 N. McGuire St.

Appeals Court To Hear Greene Case On Feb. 16

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday set a hearing for Feb. 16 in Atlanta, Ga., on the appeal of Dewey Greene Jr., for a court order to enroll him at the University of Mississippi.

A 3-judge panel will hear the appeal—Elbert Tuttle and Griffin B. Ball, both of Atlanta, and Warren J. Jones of Jacksonville, Fla.

Greene, 22-year-old Greenwood, Miss., Negro, was rejected last week when he tried to register for the spring semester. He then turned to the U. S. district court at Hattiesburg, Miss., seeking an order for his immediate admission. U. S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize deferred a ruling, telling Greene instead that he should appeal to the Ole Miss' committee on admissions.

MAKES MILLIONS MISERABLE

Bitter Cold Wave Still In Northeast

By United Press International

A bitter cold wave made millions of persons miserable in the populous Northeast Friday.

Temperatures plunged to 33 below zero in New Hampshire, herds of deer were reported fleeing from high ground to the warmer shores of Lake Erie, and it was so cold on the New England coast that "sea smoke" bubbled up from the warmer Atlantic waters.

New York City commuters struggled to work in 2-below zero temperatures, a record low for the date.

The Arctic blast spread from the rockies to the Atlantic. In the Middle West it was not as harsh as the repeated polar onslaughts of January. But for some sections of the East, including New York City, the weather was the coldest of the winter.

Light snow spread across the Middle West. Forecasters said the snow might accumulate to several inches in Iowa by Saturday night.

Recent balmy weather loosed the ice jam on the Mississippi River between St. Louis and Cario, Ill., but Army engineers said a solid block at one point still barred river traffic.

In the West, forecasters predicted that a battering surf would ease off along a 30-mile beachfront south of Los Angeles. Pounding waves Thursday washed out a seawall at San Clemente and forced residents of 90 house trailers to flee.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown declared beaches at Surfside and near San Clemente a disaster area so homeowners would be eligible for assistance.

Congress Told It Can Expect More Strikes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz told Congress Friday it can expect more strikes by labor unions in defense of unwise make-work practices, unless new jobs are created by cutting taxes.

Wirtz painted a grim picture of sharply rising unemployment during the 1960's unless consumer purchasing power is expanded and business investment is encouraged. He said this could be accomplished only if income taxes were cut.

Wirtz was the third cabinet officer to appear before the House Ways & Means Committee in support of President Kennedy's plea for a net reduction of $10.3 billion in individual and corporate taxes staged over the next three years.

Budget director Kermit Gordon will be the next witness when hearings resume a week from Monday. Then, the committee will hear spokesmen for labor, business and other non-governmental groups. This may take six weeks.

Development Of Baptist Seminary Discussed Here

A $12 - million development program recommended for the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary was discussed here Friday night at a meeting of representative Baptist ministers and laymen from the Twin Cities and immediate area.

Approximately 60 persons attended the meeting at the Holiday Inn and heard talks by Dr. H. Leo Eddleman, president of the seminary, and Jack V. Rice of Memphis, Tenn., assistant to the president of Holiday Inns of America.

Wallace Johnson of Memphis, president of Holiday Inns and also president of the New Orleans Seminary board of development, was scheduled to be the principal speaker but was unable to attend because of illness.

"Members of the board of delopment have studied the needs of the seminary and estimate that a $12 - million development program over a 12 - year period is needed," Rice pointed out.

Rice said that foremost in the development program is expansion of present library facilities, with the minimum cost of this project estimated at $600,000.

Other phases of the recommended development program include new apartment buildings for married students, a new theology building, additions to the present childrens building, a building for furloughed missionaries and a combination preaching and language laboratory.

Speakers emphasized that the "most pressing project' at the present time is the library additions.

They pointed out that the proposed library expansion will provide facilities for approximately 300,000 volumes and serve 1,200 students. The present library contains some 70,000 volumes and has space for only about 400 students.

Officials said enrollment in the seminary totals about 1,000.

Dr. Eddleman said that plans are to begin construction of the library addition by late 1964, with approximately $50,000 already donated to the project.

Speakers explained that funds for the library project "will come from special gifts, offered thoughtfully and proportionately by persons who are interested in the spiritual welfare of their community and country and who are concerned with deepening and vitalizing the Christian faith. Gifts can be used to endow annual purchases of significant books for the library."

Gordon Kingsley, assistant to Dr. Eddleman, showed film slides of present facilities at the seminary. Bob Powell, second year student at the seminary, also spoke briefly on the program.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

U.S. Grant marched east from captured Fort Henry in Tennessee to keep a date with destiny.

The time — Feb. 12, 1862. The place — Fort Donelson, a strong Confederate work on the west bank of the Cumberland River in northern Tennessee. The weather — cold, snowy. The prize — victory.

President Lincoln had ordered all his generals to move against the Confederates on Feb. 22 — Washington's birthday. Brig. Gen. Grant was giving the President more than he had asked for by 10 days and doing it on the President's birthday, too.

In four days the North would hail Grant's initials, U.S., as standing for "Unconditional Surrender" rather than Ulysses Simpson. His real name was Hiram Ulysses but a careless congressman got it wrong when Grant went to West Point.

In keeping this date with destiny, Grant would begin to show the qualities of a great general — coolness under fire and in the face of adversity; quick improvisation; bulldog tenacity; ability to get along with people.

It was "cool and invigorating" the morning of Feb. 12, when Grant started the 12-mile march from Fort Henry to Fort Donelson, with 25 regiments of infantry, seven batteries of artillery and some cavalry — about 15,000 men.

By nightfall Grant's troops were moving into line on the land side of Donelson, a fort of about 100 acres with strong entrenchments on the west side and, on the east side, heavy batteries dominating the Cumberland River. The little town of Dover, Tenn., was inside the fort's lines.

Brig. Gen. John B. Floyd, former U.S. Secretary of War, commanded the fort. Brig. Gen. Gideon J. Pillow was second in command and Brig. Gen. Simon Buckner, third. Among them they had about 21,000 troops.

The Federal gunboats, which had pounded Fort Henry into submission Feb. 6, had steamed around from the Tennessee River back to Paducah and then back up the Cumberland to attack Donelson from the river side. With them they brought enough troops on transports to swell Grant's army to 27,000.

On the 13th and the 14th Grant put his reinforcements into the lines, tightening the crescent against the fort.

Flag Officer Andrew Foote sent his four ironclads into action at 3 p.m. on the 14th. He opened fire at a mile and closed to 400 yards.

"CANNOT HOLD"

His distant fire was so destructive that Floyd telegraphed his superior, Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston in Nashville, that "the fort cannot hold out 20 minutes . . ."

But when the ironclads closed, their shots flew over the Donelson batteries because the guns could not be deflected. Then the Confederate gunners on lower ground got in their licks. The pilot house of the flagship St. Louis was shot away and Foote, oddly enough, was wounded in the foot. The Louisville's steering gear was shot away. The Pittsburgh also was damaged and retired and the Carondelet was hit at the waterline.

The next day, the 15th, Grant rode down the river bank to see the wounded Foote. Before he left he told his commanders to hold their positions.

The Confederate generals during the night had determined to cut their way out of the fort and move their army upriver south toward Nashville.

Pillow led the breakout toward the southwest against the right wing of the Federals commanded by Brig. Gen. John A. McClernand. The try was well delivered. McClernand's troops gave ground, slowly at first, then rapidly. Brig. Gen. Lew Wallace sent a brigade from the center; it slowed Pillow to a stop. Yet the Federals were disorganized.

A courier met Grant as he returned from the conference with Foote, reporting that McClernand's division was in full retreat.

Grant got back to the battlefield about 1 p.m. He sent a message to the crippled gunboats to make a demonstration — any kind — on the river side.

Grant meanwhile heard Union soldiers remarking that Confederate dead carried knapsacks full of cooked rations.

That meant, he reasoned, the rebels were trying to escape and the other end of the line must have been weakened.

Grant ordered Brig. Gen. C. F. Smith, who had commanded the cadets at West Point when Grant was there, to attack on the left.

Those still alive followed the old soldier into the Confederate lines. Smith had won a hold on the inner works of the fort.

McClernand's men reformed under the eye of Grant and went back into the fight on the right and found it unexpectedly easy to regain much of the lost ground.

Pillow had pulled his successful troops back into the fortifications. That remains somewhat of a mystery even now, 100 years later, in his battle report he said only that his troops were exhausted.

WAR COUNCIL

The Confederate high command in Donelson held another council of warr that night and agreed the fort must be surrendered. But the question was, how?

Floyd had no stomach for the job. When he was secretary of war, Northerners called him a traitor and well might bright him to trial if he were captured.

Pillow had sworn never to surrender.

Pillow escaped on a raft across the Cumberland. Floyd took out parts of four regiments on a steamer.

A new figure in the war made his appearance here, Nathan Bedford Forrest. He vowed he would not surrender and led out most of his cavalry along the river in the backwater.

Buckner's offer of surrender came through about 3 a.m. Feb. 16, a Sunday.

Smith received it and went through the snow to Grant who was asleep on a featherbed in the kitchen of a log farmhouse.

Buckner asked for a truce and appointment of commissioners to settle surrender terms.

"What answer shall I send to this, General?" Grant asked Smith.

"No terms to the damned rebels," Smith growled back.

Grant by now had pulled on his pants. He sat down at the kitchen table and wrote the message that would make him famous:

"Sir: Yours of this date proposing Armistice and appointment of Commissioners to settle terms of Capitulation is just received. No terms except unconditional and immediate surrender can be accepted. I propose to move immediately upon your works. I am sir, very respectfully,

Your obt. svt.
U.S. Grant
Brig. Gen."

Buckner accepted the terms reluctantly, calling them "ungenerous and unchivalrous."

The casualties: Federal; 510 killed, 2,108 wounded, 224 missing. Confederate; 2,000 killed and wounded, 14,623 captured.

The slouchy Federal general had captured his first Confederate army. Twice more before this war was over he would send messages announcing the capture of other Confederate armies — once from the heights of Vicksburg, Miss., and once from a hamlet few ever heard of in 1862 — Appmattox Court House, Va.

Total value of cargo run through the Federal blockade in the Civil War has been estimated at $2 billion.

Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

A top Hollywood director has sent Audrey Hepburn the newest Joseph Hayes novel, "Don't Go Away Mad," in the hope that she'll consent to play the leading role — that of a girl with "a creative urge." Too bad there aren't three Audreys; everybody wants her for a picture . . . Danny Kaye is more than a little concerned about daughter Dena's condition . . . When Debbie Reynolds finishes her next flicker, she and her millionaire husband, Harry Karl, will take a trip around the world . . . Rex Harrison must be having conniptions over the advertising campaign for "Cleopatra." After all, he is a very big star — and until the "Roman scandals" was far more important in show business than Richard Burton — but 20th Century Fox is promoting the picture with a simple reproduction of a painting showing Elizabeth Taylor and Burton, with no mention of Rexy or even the movie's title. They seem to think that's unnecessary, and they're probably right . . . The most fascinating aspect of the fire at the Hotel Fourteen was the revelation that Joseph Cotten and his wife, Patricia Medina, were living there. One would expect them to be stashed at the St. Regis, the Pierre, the Plaza or some hostelry on that level. And they can't say it's near the theatre where they are playing in "Calculated Risk" — it's 'way up in the sixties, which is scarcely the heart of the theatrical district.

Richard Rodgers is reportedly enthusiastic about getting Van Johnson for the male lead in the London company of "No Strings" — the role Richard Kiley plays so well on Broadway. The composer must consider it a very flexible part, because Van is anything but the Kiley type . . . Sen. Barry Goldwater saw the "Dime a Dozen" show at the Plaza and appeared very amused by the song "Barry's Boys," which lampoons him. He went backstage to congratulate the cast and delivered a lengthy speech on the glories of America, where performers can make fun of the President or a Senator without fear of reprisals . . . Robert Coleman, drama critic for the New York Daily Mirror, is recovering from a mugging that occurred in midtown the other night as he was walking to his Central Park South home after attending a theatre premiere. Fourteen stitches were necessary to close his head wound.

You wouldn't think Gene Krupa's hot combo would be a romantic background, but that's exactly what it served as when Tina Louise came into the Metropole with composer David Anram and they exchanged soulful glances . . . Jack E. Leonard, felled by pneumonia over a week ago, is responding rapidly to his doctor's treatment and is expected to be back on his two jolly feet before long . . . The customer demand for receipts in restaurants and night clubs has increased so tremendously since the new internal revenue regulations went into effect that they're slowing up the trade. Many cafes will soon have to follow the lead of one Broadway spot which has designed a new kind of check with a receipt at the bottom which can be torn off easily and given by the waiter to the Tired Expense Account Man . . . David Merrick's office has been deluged with photographs of little boys, sent by mothers who hope their offspring may be selected to replace the fast - growing children in "Oliver."

After seeing a private screening of "Paris When It Sizzles," Noel Coward flew to his vacation home in Jamaica to bask in the sun for two months. He'll return in April to finalize plans for his new stage venture . . . Ian Fleming, the popular suspense story writer (his "Dr. No" has been made into a film), seems to have been doing a little detective work of his own — away from the typewriter. In a magazine article, he alleges that Las Vegas pays taxes on $80,000,000 but that an additional $450,000,000 goes undeclared. Presumably the government boys will have to look into that statement, especially since Mr. Fleming has been widely publicized as one of President Kennedy's favorite authors . . . Small wonder the Parisians consider Tony Perkins a great lover and somewhat of a native son. In three of his recent pictures — "Goodbye Again," "Phaedra" and the forthcoming "Five Miles to Midnight" — he has had torrid love affairs in the French capital, his partners being such sizzling ladies as Ingrid Bergman, Melina Mercouri and Sophia Loren.

Remember Eddie Bracken who went from the Broadway stage to become Hollywood's hottest comedian for a few years? He's now posing as a model, without identification, in advertisements . . . Nat King Cole is learning to sing "Three Coins in the Fountain" and "Tender Is the Night" in Japanese for his Far East swing next month . . . The news is much better about Magda Gabor, who suffered a stroke four months ago. She started to speak recently, and is even making a few public appearances with her devoted husband, Tony Gallucci . . . A Tin Pan Alley rumor has it that Verve Records, an MGM subsidiary, is getting ready to make some drastic moves in the interest of economy.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

THE ADDICTION PERSONALITY

More than two years ago we wrote on the dangers of sniffing the plastic cement used in constructing model airplanes, trains, and boats. The British Medical Journal recently published an account of how a 20 - year - old man became addicted to glue sniffing.

It is worth repeating because it demonstrates how addictions begin and why it is difficult to quit after the habit is fully established. The story could apply to morphine, heroin, or any other habit producing substance.

The man obviously was emotionally immature, with the type of personality that invites addiction to drugs. He had read about glue sniffing in an American magazine. One of his hobbies was plane modeling. According to the details mentioned in the article, he squeezed some of the glue into a handkerchief, which he rolled up and placed in the mouth.

He inhaled until he felt dopey, the typical response that these people are looking for to escape reality. During this dazed state he experienced dreams in color, mostly pleasant and enjoyable.

At first he inhaled one - third of a tube before falling to sleep at night. The amount was increased gradually until he needed two tubes every night to get the desired effect. It is here that the dangerous aspects of addiction are noted.

He tried to stop but developed what he called the d.t.s. The withdrawl reaction consisted of cramps in the hands, tingling of the hands and feet, and pains across the abdomen. In addition, he had horrible hallucinations; he saw spidery figures on the walls and the arm of his chair turned into a rat.

His anxiety and fear became so great he consulted his physician. By this time, he was sniffing six tubes in one day. The man was hospitalized and later discharged as apparently cured but returned two weeks later because he had resumed glue sniffing. He was despondent and in need of psychiatric care. His philosophy was, "There is no point in settling down because we are doomed by the Chinese atom bomb."

Young people who tend toward addictions ought to get psychiatric care early, to save them for a productive existence.

BODY SINUSES

J. M. writes: Are sinuses located anywhere else besides the head?

REPLY

Yes. In the strict sense, the word sinus means cavity or passageway, of which we have many in the body. Certain abnormal passageways also are known as "sinuses." They are created by burrowing pus that is trying to escape to the surface from an abscess deep in the body or beneath the skin.

THE LAXATIVE HABIT

J.F. writes: Are all laxatives habit forming?

REPLY

None is habit forming when used only occasionally. Daily usage makes the bowel lazy and the habit develops when the individual believes a daily laxative is absolutely necessary.

NIPPED EARS

P.M.S. writes: My ears are so sensitive to cold they puff up and itch. I can hardly wear my glasses. Have you any helpful suggestions?

REPLY

Wear earmuffs or a stocking cap. Consult a ski shop for the proper gear.

CORNEAL ULCER

J. K. writes: What is the cause of an ulcer on the cornea of the eye?

REPLY

Donovan Asked To Support 5 Cuba Demands

MIAMI (UPI) — A renegade American commentator for a Castro propaganda station in Havana called on New York Attorney James B. Donovan Friday to support Cuba's "five demands" on the United States including the abandonment of the Guantanamo Naval Base.

The commentator, who gave his name as Harold Spencer, said in an open letter to Donovan, who negotiated the recent ransom release of Cuban invasion prisoners, that "your voice in support of the five points would be an effective voice against murder and for peace."

The broadcast was an English-language transmission called "The Friendly Voice of Cuba". Spencer said Cubans felt that "U. S. government officials are hardly distinguishable from the most barbarous fascists that operated under Hitler."

He praised Donovan for "leadership in the one humane act (the ransom payment) that the U.S. government has performed for Cuba."

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Forest Fire Situation 'Brisk'

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The current forest fire situation in Louisiana is "brisk" according to a report from State Forester James E. Mixon. Since Feb. 1 he said 257 wildfires have burned 4,531 acres of woodlands across the state.

"The two worst days in this period," he observed, "were last Saturday and Sunday when gusty winds up to forty miles per hour whipped up 119 fires, reducing 2,992 acres of timberland to ashes."

The southeast and southwest portions, notorious for malicious woods fires, led all other areas of the state.

Techsters Snap Tribe's Jinx With 81-74 League Triumph

Victory Is First In Three Seasons

By RICK BRYAN
WORLD SPORTS EDITOR

RUSTON — The "Northeast jinx" is over. Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs came up out of the Gulf States Conference cellar here Friday night to snap Northeast State's win streak in this series at five straight and seriously hurt the Indians' chances of taking a second straight league crown with an 81-74 victory before approximately 3,500 fans in Memorial Gynasium.

The loss put the finishing touches on a disastrous five game road trip that has seen the Indians drop all five and fall to 3-3 in league play.

The game also ended a five game losing streak for a Tech club that has played some great ball lately but wasn't able to win for love nor money. In addition it was the first Bulldog win over Northeast in the last three seasons.

Tech is now 2-4 in GSC play having won both of its conference games at home.

The Bulldogs' Joe Abendroth, who can be great when he has to be, had his second fine night in a row and led all scorers with 25-points. Abendroth scored 27 the game before against Centenary.

Right behind Abendroth was Coushatta's Ray Penny. The sophomore forward who may be the most improved man on the Tech squad, had one of his best nights ever with 21 - points and 14 rebounds. He was mainly responsible for a 36-27 Bulldog edge in rebounding.

Big Robert Cook paced Northeast's scoring with 20-points and hurt Tech all night with his shooting from close in. Right behind was dribbling master Stuart Toms with 18.

Cook and forward Milton Linder were Northeast's top rebounders with seven apiece. Jimmy Walker had six.

Tech hit 52 per cent from the field (21 of 40) compared to Northeast's 42 per cent (24 of 56). But it was the Canines' opportunity and accuracy from the charity line that decided the game. Tech cashed in on 39 of 45 foul shots against 26 of 31 for the Indians.

Tech is now 8-10 for the season and Northeast 11-10.

The Bulldogs used good accuracy from the field to lead practically all of the first half. Northeast went in front 3-2 with 18:43 left in the period and tied it up four times, including one time at 26-26 with 6:32 remaining in the half.

The rest of the opening period Tech stayed in front from one to four points until Penney dropped in one at the buzzer for a 39-33 intermission lead.

The Bulldogs held their lead in the second half until 6:58 when two Cook foul shots put Northeast in front 62-21. The lead swapped hands twice and was tied once before Penny's charity toss with 4:16 to go put the Canines in front to stay 67 - 66.

Tech built up a nine point lead with 1:20 left but the Indians went into a full court press and narrowed to 77-72 with :49 remaining.

At this point junior Max Howard got a bucket and a pair of foul shots to offset a two - pointer by Northeast's Billy Brooks and Tech had gained a hard sought revenge win.

The Tribe did get slight help from McNeese State which edged Southwestern in Lafayette 47-46 the same night. USL still leads the league with a 5-1 mark and would have been in hailing distance of Northeast - had the Indians beaten Tech. But the Lafayette Bulldogs must play both Northeast and Tech on the road [illegible] the season isn't over.

SATURDAY NIGHT

Northeast Trackmen In Will Rogers Meet

Sugar Bowl Champ Randall 'Ter' Walker heads a contingent of Northeast State trackmen who will compete in the annual Will Rogers Indoor Games in Fort Worth Saturday night.

Walker, unbeaten in the quarter mile in 1962, will compete in the meet's special 500 - yard run against four of America's finest runners — Olympian Eddie Southern, Cliff Cushman, Ted Nelson, and Ralph Alspaugh.

Southern, a former Texas University athlete, is one of the greatest runners ever developed in Texas. Cushman was one of the nation's top hurdlers and quarter - milers while a collegian at Kansas State while Nelson last year ran the 400 meters in 46.3, the 19th fastest time in the world. Alspaugh is a famed sprinter but is also outstanding over longer distances. He is co-holder of the world 60 - yard dash record.

A senior from Hallsville, Tex., Walker won seven straight quarter - miles in 1962, closing out his banner year with an upset victory over Big Eight champion Charlie Strong in the Sugar Bowl. Walker breezed home 10 yards ahead of Strong in 47.8, a new Sugar Bowl record.

Last spring Walker set a Gulf States Conference record of 47.4 in the 440. His only defeats in any individual event last year came in the Will Rogers Games when Olympian Earl Young edged him in a freak 576 - yard run and in the Northwestern Relays when he was second to Don Styron in the high hurdles.

Walker will also run in the mile relay at Fort Worth, teaming up with junior John Baker and freshmen Cline Averett of West Monroe and Mike Wilson of Monroe.

Indian sprinter Jay Goldsmith is scheduled to run in the 60-yard dash at Ft. Worth against a fast field but another Northeast ace, pole vaulter John Pennel, will sit out his specialty.

Pennel, who went 15-17¼ in Toronto's Telegram - Maple Leaf Games in January, sprained an ankle on his first vault in last Friday night's Millrose Games in New York City and was forced to sit out that meet as well as Saturday night's Philadelphia Inquirer Games. It was hoped he would be able to vault in Fort Worth but his doctor advised against it. His next competition will be Feb. 16 when he and several other Indians are slated to participate in the Coliseum Relays in Montgomery, Ala.

Idea Of Another Park Is Raised In West Monroe

With a go - ahead from the Ouachita Parish School Board, a third baseball park in West Monroe may be constructed for use by youth organizations.

Charles Anding, City Councilman said West Monroe city officials and members of the Recreation Commission are planning to confer with the Parish School Board on the matter.

If plans for the new stadium finalize, the park would be erected at Highland School in Sunshine Addition at an estimated cost of between $4,000 to $6,000.

The two baseball parks presently in the city, located on North Seventh Street and at the Southside playground, are utilized by Dixie Youth Baseball, Inc.

The council and commission were reportedly prompted into action concerning the prospective park after learning of the heavy schedule of games in the two parks throughout the past summer.

Winnfield Wins District Crown; Defeats Neville

Winnfield's powerful sextet wrapped up the district 2-AA championship Friday night by downing Neville, 71-45, in Monroe.

Winnfield and Neville are the only two girls teams in 2-AA. They had played once before during the season and Winnfield won that game also.

In Friday night's victory Phyl Love bombed in 22 points to lead the winners. Dianne Maxey chipped in 22 more and Docia Dalley finished with 16.

Neville's dependable Carolyn Courson was high for the losers with 29 points.

Karen Crow and Pat Ayers each had seven for Neville.

Neville's student body turned out in full force for the cage affair, Tigerettes and all, but it was to no avail as Winnfield could not be stopped.

Coach Ellen told the Morning World that the decision had been carefully thought out.

"I am concerned with my personal position, however, I am convinced, and I think many others are convinced, that the coaching is not the total problem in the athletic program being what it is at Ouachita,' the personable mentor said.

Ellen has just completed his 16th year of coaching and at present has a 94-62-8 record over this span.

Before coming to Ouachita in 1956, Ellen had compiled a 71-22-8 record in high school football in Arkansas.

FOR DALLAS TEXANS

Hunt Takes Look At Inviting Offer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The champion Dallas Texans of the American Football League will move to Kansas City if 25,000 season tickets are sold and a satisfactory agreement can be worked out for use of Municipal Stadium, owner Lamar Hunt said late Friday.

Hunt's comment came after the city council said it intended to enlarge the stadium and erect an office building to make a new home for the AFL club.

The Dallas oilman was first scheduled to go into session with the City Council, which must act on certain proposals for enlarging spectator and office facilities at Municipal Stadium, now used almost exclusively by the Kansas City Athletics.

The Kansas City Chamber of Commerce has agreed to spearhead a season ticket sale, to begin April 15. If the goal of 25,000 sales is reached within 30 days, Hunt is expected to decide whether to move the team from Dallas.

Mayor H. Roe Bartle contacted Hunt several weeks ago when he learned there was a possibility the Texans might move because of competition with another pro club, the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League. One of his inducements was enlargement of the stadium, for which the city has bond money for improvements.

The Last Hole

Nicklaus Best?

The big talk this week, of course, has been about e way Jack Nicklaus defeated Gary Player in the hole playoff for the championship of the 5-day, -hole Palm Springs Classic marathon tournament (Player and Nicklaus had tied the regulation 90 les and tied it up in an 18-hole head - to - head uel to determine the winner).

Nicklaus is definitely great and may become the reatest in time but he is still a shade off the overall ace being set by Palmer and Player. Jack just asn't had the time to reach the maturity to take ver the limelight from his biggest rivals but we ave to admit he's not far from it.

Nicklaus has proved himself to be one of the reatest, if not the greatest head - to - head player e game has ever known. Player, in contrast, is one f the worst.

In the Bing Crosby tournament, Player and icklaus both finished second and were only one troke behind the winning Billy Casper's score. In he tournaments prior to that, though, Player had ut-performed Nicklaus this year.

Nicklaus won virtually every match he played every tournament he entered during his senior ear at Ohio State two years ago. He beat Palmer nd Player in a playoff for the "World Series" of olf last year (the World Series is not recognized by he PGA—It takes the winners of the years biggest urneys—the Masters, the PGA, and the National pen—and matches them in a 36-hole playoff) and lso beat Palmer in an 18-hole playoff for the National Open title. This gives him a big mental boost nd will undoubtedly help until either or both Palmer nd Player reverse the situation at some future date. ne thing is for sure—They're the best in the orld and it's earning them the title of "The Big 3."

The Money Winners

Jack Nicklaus wasn't even in the list of the top en money winners for 1963 but after the Classic e's climbed the ladder to third. The victory was orth $9,000 to him and boosted his winnings to 11,665.

Player is still the number 1 man, however, with 15,302. Here's how the rest of the top ten stand: - Arnold Palmer with $11,800; 4- Billy Casper with 10,483; 5 - Jack Burke, Jr. with $9,540; 6 - Tony ema with $6,206; 7- Bob Rosburg with $5,642; Don January with $5,220; 9- Julius Boros with 4,825; and 10- Art Wall, Jr. with $4,819.

Sam Snead is still the all time leading money inner in the official winnings but will be replaced oon. He finished with a grand total of $390,356 hrough 1962 and this is dating way back to 1937. rnold Palmer, starting 18 years later in 1955, is econd with $341,415! Snead has also won more official PGA tournament than anyone with a lifetime otal of 57. Ben Hogan is next with 52 and then come yron Nelson with 45, and Cary Middlecoff and Ar[illegible] Palmer with 33 each.

Mickey Wright

Mickey Wright, often referred to as the Arnold almer of the touring ady professionals, won von her fifth Sea Island (Ga.) Ladies Open this ast weekend with a ecord - breaking 212 toal for the 54 holes.

TOBOGGAN - CLAD Mickey Wright blasts from a sand trap onto the seventh green in the final round of the Sea Island Ladies Open Monday.

Miss Wright was the ading money winner in he LPGA last year with 21,641. Not much in omparison with the men ut she has won $115,24 since 1955 and that's o small change.

They Said It

JACK FLECK, former National Open Champion, recently told United Press International that t is time to break up the big five of golf. Fleck was eferring to Palmer, Player, Nicklaus, Casper and ittler. He said "Those five seem to have a strangle hold on the game" but he had no plan to break them up . . . GARY PLAYER was quoted in giving an explanation of his 18-foot putt on the last hole to win he San Diego Open: "I haven't done well in playoffs. In fact, I've lost every one, eight of them all over the world." — nine now, Mr. Player . . . JACK NICKLAUS: "Some weeks you only have to work four days for $9,000—This week I had to work six!"

SENATE

Investigation Back In Track Squabble

By JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reewed feuding over control of .S. track and field competition hrew back into gear Friday plans or a Senate investigation into the ong and bitter wrangling.

Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-enn., of the Senate Antitrust and onopoly Subcommittee told his aff to resume the preliminary iry that had been halted after Douglas MacArthur arranged uce Jan. 19 among the warfactions.

e question the aides are to ermine is whether public hearngs are needed for all sides to ir their grievances. Well placed urces said they expect the anwer to be "yes."

Kefauver has joined with Presient Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy and others in expressng concern that unless the fight settled it will deal a major low to U.S. hopes in the 1964 lympics in Japan. That was why e President asked MacArthur arbitrate the dispute.

It appeared his truce had suceeded in at least keeping the disute from disrupting the winter door meets. It put a stop—at east for a while—to the suspenion of athletes for competing in meets sponsored by one or another of the battling groups.

The main groups involved are the Amateur Athletic Union, National Collegiate Athletic Association, the college-backed United States Track and Field Federation and some smaller organizations.

The U.S. Olympic Committee, which is chartered by Congress, handles the selection of the American Olympic team members and the AAU has the dominant voice on the committee. The college group have been fighting for a bigger voice because they supply so many of the athletes, particularly in track and field.

The AAU picks 30 of the committee's members, the NCAA the other 10.

There have been suggestions in Congress that the whole thing could be solved by withdrawing the charter to the committee and setting up a new one.

Neither AAU nor NCAA officials had any comment on the possibility of a congressional inquiry.

MacArthur has made no public comments on the new outbreak between the factions.

NONE TOO POLITE

St. Matthew's Defeats Rayville Five, 60-38

By STUART HILL
World Sports Writer

St. Matthew's slap-happy fighting Irish, holding a good lead most of the game, played like they were 10-points behind, got in one fistic encounter and almost another but otherwise cruised to a none too polite, 60-38 victory over Rayville's Hornets.

With less than 1:00 remaining in the district 2-A contest, a Rayville player asked for time to tie his shoe, but the sight of swinging arms and sounds of mumbled words took the spectators' attention. St. Matthew's Clifford Worley and Rayville's Billy Gammill were scrapping it out on the floor. Worley was ejected from the game.

Just a few minutes earlier, Richard Fontana nearly engaged another Hornet in something more than words.

In obviously the most unsportman - like game in the Twin Cities throughout the season two unusual events worthy of note occurred: Rayville's Charlie Gammill scored 20-points even with the heavy concentration of Irish defense and St. Matthew's Worley, usually just a play caller, finally connected on some of his absurd long shots and led the Irish in scoring with 18-points.

Things went smooth in the first three quarters with St. Matthew's taking a 14-11 lead with about 1:00 left in the first quarter, never to trail again. After leading 16-11 at the end of the initial period, the Irish moved on the extreme defensive and led 30-15 at intermission.

After a 47-24 score at the third with the Irish ahead, the Hornets became a little more defensively orientated and Charlie Gammill kept the Irish's end of the court buzzing with his ball snatching attempts.

St. Matthews won the B game, 41-36.

With each squad concentrating on stopping the other's leading scorer, Fontaaa, who wears a perpetual frown on the court, was held to 14-points while Wayne Lasuzzo, who hits consistently with his corner shots, was second to Worley with 15 - for the night.

The victory leaves St. Matthews sportings a 9-12 season mark and 5-3 record in district outings.

PALMER SECOND

Hebert Holds 1st In Phoenix Meet

By CARL BELL

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Jay Hebert matched his opening round 67 Friday to seize sole possession of a one-stroke lead over Arnold Palmer at the halfway mark in the $35,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

The veteran Louisianian's 134 for two days is 10 under par.

Two strokes back of the leader with successive efforts 67-69 is Gary Player, followed by Dick Hart, Jack Nicklaus, Gardner Dickinson and Johnny Pott at 137.

The handsome Hebert, who has not won a tournament in two and one half years, fired seven birdies and two bogies in his 32-35 tour of the 6,679, par-72 Arizona Country Club layout.

Two of his birdie putts went down from 40-feet away, but consistently good iron play left him few initial putts of more than 10 feet.

Hebert has had tremendous success with the Desert Courses short par 5s, birding all but one of them in his two rounds and thus accounting for all but one of the strokes he has chopped off par.

Palmer, starting on the back nine Friday, carded nine pars up to the turn. He rolled in a 50p foot putt to eagle the 490 - yard first hole, his 10th. The defending champion here for two years running, added three more birdies and didn't slip over par on a single hole.

Palmer came as close to a hole-in-one without getting one. His tee shot on the 140-yard No. 3 landed three feet past the pin, and the back spin drew it across the cup. The ball wobbled but didn't drop. Palmer didn't sink the three-foot putt coming back either, and had to settle for a par.

Iraq's Revolution May Prove Blow To West

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Iraq's new revolution upsets a precarious balance in the sensitive Middle East. Once again the strategic, oil-producing area faces threats of confusion, violence and crisis.

The overthrow of Premier Karim Kassem may prove a blow to the West, even though the plotters are professed anti-Communists.

As usual in any Arab East situation, the picture is clouded by masses of contradictions and paradoxes.

The revolt seems to have been staged by the Ba'ath (Arab Socialist) party, which stands for Arab political unity and for a vague, ill-defined brand of Arab socialism.

News Analysis

The Ba'athists' main strength is in Syria. They profess to be anti-Communist. At the same time they are violently anti-West and the bitterest enemies of Israel. They stand for a loose political confederation of Arabs rather than actual union with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's Egypt and under his domination. Nasser outlawed the Ba'athists in Syria when that country was part of the United Arab Republic.

Despite that, the Ba'athists probably will stand for a general rallying around Nasser, who had warred with Kassem.

Kassem had been walking a tightrope, always in danger of treachery, always fighting on a variety of fronts to keep his hold on oil-rich but backward, illiterate and poverty-stricken Iraq.

Kassem actually proved to be a counterbalance to forces of Arab nationalism which follow Nasser. If Nasser exerts a dominating influence over the new regime, an upsurge of violently emotional Pan-Arabism could raise immediate threats to the rest of the area, including the oil-based kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the vast oil pool of the neighboring Kuwait shiekdom, and the shaky kingdom of Jordan.

Syria, lying to the west of Iraq but separated from Egypt by Lebanon, is in danger once again of losing her independence and being absorbed in a Nasser-dominated federation.

Civil war cannot be ruled out as a possibility for Iraq, an ancient, often-scourged land lying between the storied Tigris and Euphrates rivers. In a country as volatile as Iraq, anything can happen.

There is some question whether the new regime can hold the loyalty of "the streets," the Arab East term for the mobs which run riot at every upheaval and are a potent political force. Usually the mobs tend to go with the wide which looks the winner, but there is no guarantee of that.

The revolution comes at a time when U.S. policy seemed aimed at placating the Arabs. The United States has recognized a revolutionary government in Yemen, probably to the dismay of the British who fear that their neighboring protectorate of Aden is endangered.

Nasser has poured troops and equipment into Yemen to support the revolutionary regime. The revolt against the feudal imam there has been a feather in Nasser's cap. He badly needed one, since he had suffered a setback in the Syrian defection in 1961 and had apparently felt constrained to concentrate on developing "socialism" in Egypt rather than trying to foment revolution throughout the Arab East.

Soviet oil is intruding into world markets, undercutting world prices and posing along-term threat to Arab economies. Oil is their only real source of stability.

The Western-owned, British-operated Iraq Petroleum Co. is the only hope for any Iraqi regime to keep its head above water. Iraq produced nearly 368 million barrels in 1961, ranking fourth after Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and Iran in the Middle East.

Kassem frequently made noises sounding like threats of nationalization. He constantly harassed the IPC and associated companies. He decreed expropriation of 90 per cent of the concessions, a move the companies never accepted. Mostly, he was making emotional, nationalist talk.

The World for WOMEN

Annual Washington Luncheon Held By CAR

Millicent Parks, President of the Prairie Jefferson Society for the Children of the American Revolution was mistress of ceremonies on Saturday at noon when the Prairie Jefferson Society and the Lt. Joseph Bomar Society were co-hosts for the annual George Washington Birthday luncheon. Prairie Jefferson Society is composed of children from Morehouse Parish and Lt. Joseph Bomar Society is composed of children of Ouachita Parish. Miss Parks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Parks of Oak Ridge, La.

The annual affair was held in a private dining room at the Holiday Inn and all of the long tables were covered in white damask. The side tables held transparent trees on which were placed red cherries and at intervals down the center of these tables were branches of cherry trees. In the center of the speaker's table was a beautiful arrangement of bright red carnations with tall figurines of George and Martha Washington as the focal point. Used also with these flowers were bows of red, white and blue ribbons and the same kind of ribbon was used to make streamers that were used down the sides of the main table. Also at the head table were American and CAR flags. Each place was marked with copies of the American's creed, CAR Pledge and CAR song. Atop this was a bright red hatchet folder which had the program for the day and on the front was a CAR emblem. Places for the officers of each society and guest speaker were marked with tiny red place cards with caricatures of George and Martha Washington.

After Miss Parks called the group to order, she asked Gay White of Bastrop to give the invocation and Shelly Coats of Mer Rouge to lead in the Pledge of Allegiance. Molly Clark of Mer Rouge led in giving the CAR Creed and then Miss Parks gave an official welcome to all members and guests present. Sage Redding, president of the Lt. Joseph Bomar Society responded and then all of the guests were introduced.

After the luncheon the guest speaker, Mrs. Norman McDuffie was introduced by the mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. McDuffie gave a short talk on what the CAR has meant to her and she encouraged each member present to work faithfully and diligently and asked parents to encourage their children in CAR and other patriotic work because, Mrs. McDuffie pointed out, the foundation for patriotism is laid at home and when a person is quite young.

A most inspiring essay on "Keeping Liberty Alive" was given by Sage Redding who also reiterated how important CAR work is and how important it is to love our country.

The meeting closed with a few short words about the coming state convention which is to be held in Monroe in March at which time Miss Louisiana, Diana Jane Smith, will perform at the organ. Diana is a former CAR member. Members and guests joined in singing all verses of the CAR song.

Members and guests present were Kay Adams, Janet Williams, Susan Alexander, Julie Amman, Peggy Windham, Pam Burgress, Joan Burkhalter, Sue Burkhalter, Martha Coker, Nancy Crossland, Ann Edmondson, Marilyn Evans, Mrs. James Evans, Jeannie Frazier, Jennifer Frazier, Nancy Garrett, Eastland Gray, Linda Eastland (Dodds, Miss.), Beth Ormond (Forest, Miss.), Nancy Hammons, Brenda Madden, Gay Hargrove, Becky Huenefeld, Susan Johns, Katherine Glascow, Rhoda Faust, Kay Jones, Linda Ladner, Cynthia Leigh, Lou Lemert, Becky Bancroft, Vee Marshall, Mary Katherine McGuire, Llewellyn Roy, Christine Moore, Connie Faust, Ann Murphy, Penny Nichols, Ginny Nichols, Shirley Ann Norris, Sue Norris, Sally Pierce, Sage Redding, Ann Stevenson, Alys Renwick, Donna Renwick, Mrs. J. WHO'S CHICKEN?

ELK RIVER, Minn. (UPI) — Youngsters who call their less-than - daring parents "chicken" are closer to scientific fact than they realize. What they likely don't know is that they're being pretty "chicken" themselves.

Poultry scientists at the Cargill - Nutrena research farm here, who recently completed a study of laying hen habits, say young chickens tend to be flighty restless and belligerent.

More mature birds steer clear of fights, take more time getting from one place to another, and often sit and relax in the nest they've done their daily job of egg laying, the scientists say.

DEAR ABBY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I need help. When I met Johnny he had no mustache, and when I married him he had none. All of a sudden, two years late, he decided to grow one. I think it makes him look too old. (He is only 25). He thinks it looks good. When I tell him to shave it off, he says I'm jealous and don't want other women looking at him. This isn't true. I don't like the feel of it, either. Am I wrong to demand he shave it off?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Don't let a little mustache come between you, but change your tactics. Speak softly — but carry a big razor. Delilah.

DEAR ABBY: Every Saturday my 17-year-old daughter baby-sits from ten in the morning until six in the evening for a Mrs. Thatchroof. She has an adorable three-year-old, well-behaved boy. The last three Saturdays sister has brought her noisy, ill-mannered four-year-old to Mrs. Thatchroof's, leaves him there and goes off with her sister. The four-year-old teases the younger boy and my daughter spends eight hours being a referee. Don't you think if my daughter must care for two children she should be paid double? Should she ask Mrs. Thatchroof? Or should her sister be asked? Would it be proper for my daughter to do the asking? Or should I?

DELAWARE AVENUE

DEAR DELAWARE: Your daughter should speak to Mrs. Thatchroof privately. If she has invited her sister to deposit her son at her home to be cared for, Mrs. Thatchroof should pay for it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a sixth grade teacher and this is my first year of teaching. The mother of one of my pupils came to see me yesterday and, with tears in her eyes, begged me not to call on her son to recite in class. She said he knows all the answers but reciting in class makes him so nervous that he goes to pieces when he gets home. I have noticed that the boy does much better in his written work, but I didn't realize reciting in class was so difficult for him. Should I make an exception of this boy to please his mother? Would it be fair to the other children? I'd like your opinion.

PUZZLED TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: The boy obviously has a problem and to evade it when he will one day have to face and conquer it would do him more harm than good. Tell his mother she can't run interference for her son all his life, and if reciting in class is really such a traumatic experience the boy needs professional help.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby in care of News-Star.

Hints From HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE:

Since we all use gelatin for deserts as well as for salads . . . could you possibly tell me an easy way to mix it?

Each time I come out with thick "glop" on the bottom and can never seem to stir it long enough to dissolve this thick sugary formation.

COOKIE

DEAR COOKIE:

I never make gelatin in a pan or bowl. I use a pint fruit jar! And here are the reasons:

I have two kids. They love it so much, they can eat it by the spoon or the bucketful.

I take an old pint jar and put it in my kitchen sink and turn on the hot water faucet.

I let the hot water run into the jar until it is as hot as my little ol' thermostat makes it.

I then dump out half of the water. Into this half-filled jar I pour my granules. I then take a big tablespoon and stir it. This hot water will immediately dissolve all of the sugary "glob."

As soon as the granules are completely dissolved, I fill the jar up with ice cubes. I do all this in the sink. If the sink gets dirty or you splash some out of the jar while stirring, all you have to do is turn on that hot water faucet again, and you have no mess to clean up such as you might have had you made it on your drainboard.

One more thing: after the gelatin gets cool and I am in the mood to slice bananas, pineapple or fruit into it, I do not quite fill the pint jar up to the top. I leave about one inch or so of space at the top of this jar when putting in my ice cubes. Remember, the fruit does take up space and you do not want to overflow the jar.

Place this in your refrigerator. If the fruit comes to the top of the jar, take the jar and shake it or turn it over. For goodness sakes, be sure that the lid is on. The fruit will then distribute itself without any extra effort on your part.

If you do not have a lid for your jar, leave in the same spoon that you stirred the granuales with. Place all of this in your refrigerator and as the jello begins to thicken, take your spoon and whirl it around to mix it up again.

Here's another idea that I hit upon recently because my two kids fought over who ate the most. Divide the gelatin into two small jars. This way each one can eat their own portion from their own jar. This has saved many arguments in this household!

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE:

When rolling out cookie dough, I use powdered sugar in place of flour on my board and I also dip the cookie cutter in the same sugar.

Be sure the powdered sugar is sifted before using it. The cookies will look and taste better, and the dough which must be refolded does not get as heavy as it does when rolled with flour.

JEAN BONILLA

DEAR HELOISE:

I use a plastic shower cap as a cover for my waffle iron. It fits perfectly, and looks lovely.

O.E.

Betty Pepis Answers You

Q: I painted the walls, doors, woodwork and all in my living room a "seafoam green." I hope this is the right thing to do. Would you have advised this? Please tell me what color for the rug, two fireside chairs, sofa, lamps and wall-to-wall draperies.

A: Yes, actually a room has more feeling of space if walls, doors and woodwork are all in one color. With the green I'd pick a sandy-beige carpet and same color for the sofa. To bring the two colors together, select a small-scale print for the drapery fabric, one in a pale green ground with dark green, yellow, beige and white. Use the same print for slip covers on fireside chairs and for two pillows on sofa. Additional sofa pillows can be yellow and deep green. Lamps should be beige.

Q: Please help me with the color arrangement in a bedroom that faces north. It is small, has a beige and rose rug, rose tufted headboard, rose and maroon bedspread, pink dust ruffles and draperies are in a beige background with large pink roses. A slipper chair is in nile green. All accessories are pink. I want to change the woodwork and doors and thought of apple blossom (a pinkish tint); do you approve? Or, would you suggest a more suitable color?

A: Pale pink is a good color for the walls in a room with a northern exposure. I'd change the draperies to the same pale pink to again give room more spacious look. Cover the chair in a pink and white check (not too tiny) and have check for dust ruffles and bedspread in same pink fabric as the draperies. Have white lamps and white accessories. I realize I am suggesting a number of changes, but if you make them, you will evolve a more current type of color scheme.

Q: My living room now has forest green walls with a natural trim. Sofa is rose brocade. Rug is rose-on-rose. We want to change the entire color scheme but will keep the rug. Please also suggest color for two chairs, draperies, and lamps.

A: What about white walls and woodwork with a print in a white ground with rose, yellow and green in the design? Cover the sofa in white and the two chairs in the print. Have white lamps.

Your Problems

Parents Should Revolt Over Teenage Conduct

By Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter is fourteen years old. She is dating a boy the same age.

This kid is at our house almost every evening.

The thing I object to is this: These two can't keep their hands off one another. They are either holding hands, or one is lying with his head in the other one's lap, or they are both lying on the sofa watching TV. All summer long they ran around barefooted, and if they weren't holding hands they were holding feet.

My wife seems to think it is perfectly all right. I think it is revolting. If they act like this at 14 what will they be doing three years from now?

My daughter and my wife both read your column. Please give them an eyeful. Thank you.—OLD FASHIONED DAD

DEAR DAD: You bet it's revolting — and if I were you I'd revolt. Teenagers who don't have enough self-respect to keep their hands off each other should be told in blunt language — and it's the parents who should do the telling. It sounds as if these two kids have a one track mind — and the traffic is pretty heavy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You have mentioned in your column that parents should not allow their children to touch things when they visit in the homes of other people. Now I wish you'd print something about young children who feed pets when no one is looking.

My cousin and his wife called on us yesterday. They brought their two youngsters along. The six-year-old gave the cat several caramels and the poor thing got her teeth stuck together and it was terrible. The other youngster gave our puppy some potato salad and dill pickle. She got so sick we had to call the vet in the middle of the night.

Our canary died several months ago and now I recall that it was just about the time these people last visited us.

Please tell folks to teach their children not to feed pets when they are guests. Thank you. — BIG VET BILLS

DEAR BIG BILLS: I'm also telling parents who take their children visiting to keep an eye on them. Youngsters should not be free to wander around in other people's homes and get into mischief.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are up to our necks in debts. My husband likes to gamble and he lies to me constantly. He swears he has paid certain bills. Later I get letters from the stores and telephones calls from the credit managers. Finally the collectors show up in person.

I learned recently that he borrowed $300 from some close friends. These people are kind-hearted and have no extra money. The man was laid off last week and now I just can't face them.

I want to take a part-time job and pay these friends back. My husband says no, that he'll pay them as soon as he can. In the meantime, I can't sleep at night worrying about our debts and the family's reputation.

I need some advice. Can you help? — MONEY WORRIES

DEAR WORRIES: By all means go to work and start paying back the money. You'll feel better, and it will be a demonstration of good faith.

Your husband sounds like a compulsive gambler who needs help. Gambler's Anonymous may be the answer. Write for information to the national headquarters of Gambler's Anonymous, P. O. Box 17173, Los Angeles 17, California. And good luck.

Britain Seeking To Overcome France's Veto

BONN (UPI) — Britain Friday held talks in two Common Market capitals to seek ways of overcoming France's veto of its bid for market membership.

Foreign Secretary Lord Home met in Brussels with Belgian Foreign Minister Paul - Henri Spaak. Thursday night, both officials criticized France's stand against Britain and Spaak implied that French President Charles de Gaulle was "out of date and backward looking."

Sir Eric Roll, No. 2 negotiator in the unsuccessful talks on British entry in the market, met in Bonn with Foreign Ministry State Secretary Rolf Lahr.

RAPS WEST GERMANY

In related developments, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev again attacked West Germany and appealed for Franco - Soviet friendship, Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag said his nation will continue to seek market membership, and the West German upper house of parliament passed a unanimous resolution backing British entry.

Home met Spaak after paying a call on Belgian King Baudouin, who was reported to have expressed his concern over the breakdown of the talks.

Spaak expressed the same concern Thursday night in a speech to the British Chamber of Commerce in Brussels.

"The fight is now against nationalism, which was thought necessary in the 19th and early 20th centuries," he said. "But it is now out of date and backward looking." Both Home and Spaak said the NATO alliance must be the basis of future European policy.

DISCUSS OPPOSITION

Roll and Lahr met here in the first of a series of talks on ways of overcoming French opposition to accepting Britain in the trading bloc. Authoritative German sources said among the subjects of discussion was the possibility of British association with the market for the present, to be followed by full membership. De Gaulle has suggested some form of associate membership might be better for Britain.

The West German Bundesrat (upper house) called on the government "to do all it can in cooperation with the other governments of the EEC (Common Market) members states to avoid dangers and to resume as soon as possible the negotiations with Great Britain."

Khrushchev's new blast at Germany was printed in Paris newspapers Friday. It was taken from an interview he recorded for French television broadcast Friday night, but which was banned by the government as "propaganda."

He attacked the Franco-German friendship treaty and warned it "would contribute to a revival of the former centers of war." He said Franco-Soviet friendship "is as necessary to the Soviet Union as it is to France."

U. S. 'Madmen' Denounced For Cuba Blockade

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Communist party newspaper Pravda Friday denounced American "madmen" for tightening the economic blockade of Cuba and said the Soviet Union will provide everything from meat to machinery to ease the pinch on Cubans.

Pravda listed goods included in the new Soviet-Cuban trade agreement for 1963 but gave no specific figures. The agreement also provided for Soviet shipping help to replace the loss of free world vessels and for long term credits.

Western economic experts said the absence of figures made it difficult, if not impossible, to determine whether Soviet aid to Castro's Cuba will be increased or reduced this year.

The items listed by Pravda in the new trade agreement were similar to those in last year's pact.

Under the agreement, the Soviets will supply oil and oil products, chemicals, timber, paper, cotton machinery, wheat, flour, vegetable oil and butter, canned meats, drugs and other goods of "decisive significance."

Cuba will repay with tobacco, spirits, sugar, and nickel products.

Tourism Plans Are Endorsed

A proposed tourist development program being promoted by the Lovely Louisiana Association received strong endorsement here Friday from Charles A. Horrworth, official with the American Hotel and Motel Association.

Horrworth predicted that tourism and travel will continue to grow because of longer vacations and higher pay for the employed population.

In regard to tourism, he pointed out that "Louisiana is selling something that cost nothing to produce and which can be sold again and again without diminishing the supply."

He emphasized educating the population of the fact that vacation and pleasure travel is a paid beneficiary, and paid advertising as means of developing the tourist program.

Horrworth was in Monroe to attend a meeting of the Louisiana Hotel and Motel Association.

Suit Over Loans By Earl K. Long Slated Monday

MANSFIELD, La. (AP) —Trial is scheduled in district court here Monday of a suit by Mrs. Blanche Revere Long to recover $160,000 she claims her late husband, Gov. Earl K. Long, turned over to a Mansfield couple.

Judge William H. Ponder will hear the case.

Mrs. Long claims in the suit the late governor made three separate loans to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matthews in December, 1960, totaling $160,000.

The Matthews denied the accusation in an answer to the suit filed in the district court here.

Mrs. Long contends she has written documents showing the Matthews owe the estate of the late governor separate loans of $46,000, $64,000, and $50,000.

She claims one note is signed by Frank Matthews, another by Mrs. Matthews, and a third by Mrs. Matthews and her son, James Roy Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews contend they did receive $110,000 from the late governor, but maintain it was for "accomodations."

They deny they borrowed the money and claim the documents in Mrs. Long's possession are only receipts for money paid by Long for the alleged accomodations.

Mrs. Matthews was a member of the Board of Public Welfare in 1956-60 Long administration and was addressed out of office by the first legislature under Gov. Jimmie H. Davis when she refused to resign the position.

She was a delegate to the Democratic national convention at Chicago in 1956 by appointment of Gov. Long.

MIDTOWN MANHATTAN

$300,000 In Gems Stolen From Hotel

NEW YORK (AP)—Professional jewel thieves struck again with cunning stealth in midtown Manhattan during the night, looting the Hotel Pierre apartment of theatrical producer Irene M. Selznick of $300,000 in gems.

One of the stones stolen was a magnificent diamond, roughly the size of a lady's small wristwatch. It was insured for nearly full value.

The theft brought to nearly $800,000 the value of jewelry taken in a series of thefts since mid-October. It was not known whether one or more gangs was responsible, although there were obvious similarities in the pattern of the thefts.

In each case, persons of obvious wealth, most of them show people, were targets of the thieves. In each case, entry to their hotel suites or apartments was accomplished smoothly and inconspiciously, while they were absent.

Mrs. Selznick's stolen diamond was a Tiffany stone that was displayed at the World's Fair of 1939. It weighed 20.23 carats, and measured about ¾ by ½ inch in surface size. It was about half the size of the famed Hope diamond, but only one-fifth as large as the incomparable Kohinoor.

The diamond, emerald-cut and set in a platinum ring with two smaller stones, was insured for $130,000, about 90 per cent of its value.

Police Sgt. John Campbell was asked if the thieves who hit Mrs. Selznick's apartment were professionals.

"You could say that," he replied. "The rooms were not ransacked."

The thieves apparently pressed open the door lock of the Selznick suite with a strip of celluloid, a familiar mode of entry. Campbell said there was no evidence that anyone within the hotel had assisted.

Mrs. Selznick, 54, is the daughter of the late movie magnate Louis B. Mayer. She divorced movie producer David O. Selznick in 1949 after 19 years of marriage, and he later married actress Jennifer Jones.

Fore the last 13 or 14 years, Mrs. Selznick has occupied a five-room suite on the 10th floor of the Hotel Pierre, one of Manhattan's most luxurious hotels, on Fifth Avenue at 61st Street opposite Central Park.

Mrs. Selznick told police she left her suite about 6:30 p.m. Thursday, to dine with Sol Rosenberg, a long-time friend. Later, they saw the motion picture "Lawrence of Arabia" at Broadway's Criterion Theater.

It was shortly after midnight when Mrs. Selznick returned to the Pierre and discovered that the jewels were missing from a vanity table between the bedroom and bathroom of her suite.

The series of midtown thefts began Oct. 17, when actress Lauren Bacall reported $3,000 worth of jewels missing from the apartment she shared with her husband, Jason Robards Jr.

Others who since have reported thefts included:

Actress Linda Christian, $125,000 in jewels from her Hotel Plaza suite Oct. 26.

ANTI-RED WAR IN SOUTH VIET NAM

American Pilot Sacrifices Own Life For 2 Crewmen

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — With his stricken plane hurtling toward the jagged side of a mountain, a veteran American Air Force pilot clung to his controls until his two crewmen were able to jump.

The plane crashed into the mountain, killing the pilot, Maj. James O'Neill, 40, Huntington Station, N.Y.

O'Neill's self sacrifice was disclosed Friday by a survivor, 1st Lt. James E. Johnson, Mary Esther, Fla., the co-pilot, who jumped safely seconds before his B26 bomber crashed on Wednesday.

"I sincerely believe he saved my life,' Johnston said in describing how O'Neill kept the doomed plane steady while his co-pilot and the Vietnamese radio operator, Dien Chin Thuong, parachuted safely.

After two days and nights in the jungle, Johnson was picked up this morning by a U.S. helicopter near the crash site 250 miles north of Saigon.

A ground search party on Thursday, found O'Neill's body in the burned wreckage of the World War II bomber on the mountainside. The Vietnamese crewman was picked up later that day by an American helicopter.

The B26 was on a strafing mission against Communist Viet Cong positions when it crashed and there was speculation that it had been shot down by Red ground fire. But Johnson said he heard no ground fire before the planes engines developed trouble.

The airman said O'Neill had no time to get out before the bomber smashed into the 4,000 foot mountain, exploding and burning.

"We had about 15 seconds to get out," Johnson said.

Johnson said he finally succeeded in signalling rescue planes with his survival kit mirror and credited his training as an Air Force commando for helping him to survive.

U.S. Air Force officials said O'Neill may be recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor, America's higheset award. They added, however, that they were not sure that under the present circumstances of undeclared war O'Neill could be honored with the medal.

They said the matter was being studied and if O'Neill cannot be recommended for the congressional medal he will be put in for the next highest award available.

O'Neill was the 67th American to die in South Viet Nam since the United States threw its support behind the Vietnamese government in the anti-Red war in 1961.

JFK Message To Khrushchev Being Drafted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is drafting a personal message to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev prodding him to get Russian military forces out of Cuba, informed sources said Friday.

The White House confined itself to saying no such message had been sent within the few days. However, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger noted that Kennedy made it clear at his Thursday news conference that negotiations on the Soviet troops have been underway.

The President discussed the negotiations in general terms when asked about Khrushchev's promise during last October's missile crisis that the troops would be removed "in due course."

Kennedy said the prolonged presence of 17,000 Russian military personnel, including perhaps 6,000 formed into four combat units, was a "matter of concern." He said it was an item of "unfinished business" left hanging from the crisis showdown.

Moves by the President to press Khrushchev on the troop situation would draw strong support in Congress which has been embroiled in a running debate over Cuba.

Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., said the Kremlin should be pointedly reminded that "any possibility of lessening international tensions will depend on Soviet action in getting these troops out of Cuba."

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee has said the United States should insist on Khrushchev keeping the troop removal pledge.

The President said the Soviet troops in Cuba did not represent a military threat to the United States nor did the kind of weapons Russia still has on the island.

In a television interview Friday, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate subcommittee which has been conducting a Cuban inquiry, said defensive weapons might be used to conceal a new Soviet offensive buildup in Cuba.

He said the defensive forces could make the island so impenetrable to U. S. surveillance that the Russians could "sneak in" offensive missiles that brought on the crisis last fall.

INSTALLATION ANNOUNCED

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist China's first atomic power generating plant will be installed in south Formosa by the end of 1971, it was announced. The cost, a minimum of $60 million, will be partly financed by the U.S. Agency for International Development, officials said.

Trading Stamps Make Possible Trip To Home

CROSSETT (Special) — Mrs. Raymond Shoops, the English wife of a Crossett auto parts salesman will return for a visit in Surrey, England to see her aging parents for the first time since she left as a bride seven years ago.

The trip for Mrs. Shoops and her two daughters, Sandra, 3, and Lisa, one, is made possible by a gift of 325 books of trading stamps from people of Crossett and cities over the state, and even some from Texas.

Mrs. Shoops' neighbor, Mrs. J. E. McArthur, started the drive in late autumn for sufficient trading stamps to pay for the round trip air ticket. Although at times the drive seemed to slump, Mrs. McArthur kept the fire burning and Friday the goal of 325 was topped by 15 books.

When people were called about returning books they asked that they be used for something Mrs. Shoops needed on the trip. She acquired a piece of luggage with the extra stamps.

Mrs. Shoops met her husband when he was stationed in the air force in Germany and she was visiting relatives there.

She has not seen her aging parents since leaving as a bride seven years ago, and they have not seen her children.

She plans to leave by mid March and spend at least a month in England.

The big drive initially was to get her home for Christmas but as the weather turned out in England the trip would have been a very unfortunate experience then, she said.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

By United Press International

STUDEBAKER PROFITS

Studebaker Corp. reported Friday that in 1962 it made a small operating profit of $489,460—the first since 1959—but that sales of property swelled this to a total profit of $2,560,000 or 17 cents a share.

In 1961 the nation's smallest auto company lost $3,130,000 on operations but had a total net income of $2,070,000 or 20 cents a share from sale of property. Sales of Studebaker last week totaled $365 million, a gain of $65 million over 1961.

CONSUMER BUSINESS

Consumer business sentiment is better than it has been in several years, the American Bankers Association said. Installment credit made good gains in 1962, the ABA said, paced by large auto sales and a steady rise in personal loans.

ANTI-TRUST SUIT

Chester C. Davis, attorney for Hughes Tool Co., advised the U.S. District Court that the company will appeal a decision denying dismissal of the anti-trust suit of Trans World Airlines against Toolco and Howard Hughes.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed 50 cents a bale lower to 40 cents higher Friday.

The House Agriculture Committee failed to agree on cotton legislation and sent the proposed bill back to the cotton subcommittee for reconsideration. This discouraged further active trading in cotton futures which had reached extreme gains of more than $5 a bale on Thursday.

Nearby deliveries closed the day with net losses partly reflecting liquidation of March contracts prior to first notice for that delivery on Feb. 21.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures worked broadly both ways from previous closes today in active transactions on the Board of Trade, but the grains scarcely budged in rather quiet dealings.

Soybeans ranged from a cent or so higher to more than two cents lower than previous closes most of the time. Traders said the range seemed to indicate more resistance to strength than weakness.

Profit-cashers climbed in quickly on the moderate advances.

Carlot receipts were estimated at: wheat 1 car, corn 178, oats 2, rye 3, barley 1, soybeans 20.

KMLB Radio Station Sold

R. L. Vanderpool Jr., a Monroe banker, has bought the controlling interest in radio station KMLB from Leon S. Walton subject to the approval of the Federal Communications commission.

Walton announced Friday that he sold his interest in the local station as an overall reduction in his radio interests.

Vanderpool said he bought Walton's interest as an investment, explaining that the station's personnel and programing would be continued.

Vanderpool said, "KMLB was the first radio station in the Twin Cities, and its present facilities are the newest, including FM Stereo, which was another first in Louisiana. KMLB plays a vital part in Northeast Louisiana and I am pleased to have the opportunity to participate in its future."

KENNEDY MEASURES

Passman Against 1963 Tax Slashes

WASHINGTON (Special) — If President Kennedy wins his fight for a $13.5 billion tax cut this year, it will be over the opposition of Rep. Otto E. Passman of Monroe.

Passman, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said Friday the U.S. cannot afford this type of "political" tax cut and the accompanying budget deficit.

He said he recognizes the "staggering load" of taxes Americans now pay, but added that reducing revenues and increasing the national debt would be "fiscally irresponsible."

"Such a course, rather than being a means to a sounder economy, would bring about further inflation, with an accelerated decline in the purchasing power of the dollar. And it could prove to be much more costly for the taxpayer than the existing burdensome taxes, while also building up an intolerable public debt which would have to be either paid or repudiated by those as yet unborn.

"So, whether it is pleasant to do so or not, we must face up to these facts realistically," he added. "We must give some thought to the welfare of the next generation, rather than just to the next election."

Passman pointed out that Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillion has already indicated the statutory ceiling for the public debt would have to be raised to about $320 billion, from the present level of $308 billlion, in order to accommodate the deficits resulting from the administration's proposed tax cut.

"The administration's approach to this entire matter, looking toward the 1964 national elections, have been what many believe to be of a hypocritical nature," he said. "However, the people are reading the fine print and seeing through this political theory of economic stimulation which is being dangled before them.

"Unfortunately," he continued, "many of those in the top echelon who are advocating this strange philosophy of generating artificial prosperity have never worked in the free - enterprise system a day in their life. They have never created a job in the free - enterprise system or met a free - enterprise payroll. The fact of being a political specialist does not necessarily make for being a qualified specialist in American free - enterprise economics."

Passman asserted that the structural changes in the administration tax package would hit most heavily at America's middle-income group. He mentioned, in this connection, the proposed floor under deductions for contributions to churches and charities, new limitations on medical - expense allowances, changes in rates on income from capital gains, estate tax increases, revision of the allowance for the deduction of interest on earnings before the computation of taxes and numerous other categories.

Arson Case Verdict Is 'Guilty'

A five man jury convicted a 52-year-old Monroe man, Leonard Herman Kordick, of arson with intent to defraud in Fourth District Court Friday after deliberating only five minutes.

Judge Mack Barham heard the jury return a verdict of "guilty as charged" against Kordick after about three hours of testimony in which the defendant took the stand in his own behalf. Judge Barham remanded Kordick for sentencing until Feb. 11.

Kordick was found guilty of setting fire to his home at 907 S. 2nd St., Monroe, on the evening of July 11, 1962. The defendant can be fined not more than $2,000 or imprisoned for not more than two years or both.

Kordick was the defense's only witness while the state called 10 witnesses to the stand. Testifying for the state were State Fire Marshall Garland May, Monroe Police Chief James C. Kelly, Mrs. Fred Pettit, Major L. P. Smith, of the Monroe police detective division, Chief C. W. Flacy and his asst. Capt. J. K. Clowers, both from the Monroe Fire Prevention Bureau, E. W. Cruse, and members of the Monroe Fire Department — Capt. J. F. Pitarrro, Capt. Henry Riser, and Dist. Chief J. C. Lyles.

The five-man jury who heard the case were Don L. Newton, Ward 10; J. D. Reeves, 10; Jack V. Bagwell, 5, jury foreman; Charles T. Johnson, 2; and James B. Green, 5.

In other district court action Friday, Judge Barham remanded Levelle Griffith, 27, Rt. 2, West Monroe, and Margaret Austin Brooks, Negro, 818 Layton St., Monroe, to the parish jail until Feb. 15. Following pre - sentence investigations, which will be conducted prior to that date, the two will be brought back to court for sentencing.

Mrs. Griffith withdrew an earlier plea of not guilty to a count of abortion. She had been originally slated for trial Tuesday but the case was continued until today because she was ill.

The Brooks woman also withdrew an earlier plea of not guilty today. She was slated for trial Feb. 21, on three counts of theft.

FOR MEN'S HOUSING

Large Northeast Dormitory Planned

The State Board of Education has approved plans for Northeast Louisiana State to build a million dollar men's dormitory.

The dormitory will be air-conditioned and designed along line of other modern dormitories built on the campus during the past two years. Design will have a private bath located between two rooms, each to house only two students.

The college already has air-conditioned rooms to house 768 students.

The new facility will be financed with revenue bonds and is anticipated to be ready for occupancy by September, 1964. It will house approximately 350 men.

Another development at Northeast this week was the aquisition of approximately 60 acres of land across Bayou DeSiard.

"The purchase of this land is a part of the state board's indicated long - range need for a hundred additional acres," Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast, said, "The board's program calls for the relocation of all athletic facilities, including a gymnasium for men, ROTC facilities and future housing for men."

The landowners have been paid and the deeds were recorded on Monday for the 60 acres of land. Purchase was authorized by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and the State Bond and Building Commission, at a cost of $325,700.

Purchase of the land across Bayou DeSiard is the greatest single development for Northeast since its establishment as a degree - granting institution.

Development of this land contemplates that a bridge or roadway will be constructed across the Bayou as an extension of Hippolite St.

FEDERAL RESERVE CHIEF

Martin Is Symbol Of Sound Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP) — When one of his secretaries learned that William McChesney Martin Jr. was being reappointed chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, she beamed and said "I think the world is better off."

Martin holds that kind of respect and warmth from those who work with him.

His demonstrated talent likewise has earned the admiration of men in the monetary markets all over the world, although in some cases admiration has been cooled by disagreement with his policies.

Martin long has been recognized as a symbol of the sound dollar, to any liberal-minded economists—and members of Congress—he has been more a symbol of tight money.

This impression led to conjecture, when John F. Kennedy was elected president, that Martin's days as chairman of the "Fed" were numbered. It developed that Kennedy was a bit more conservative in his fiscal thinking—and Martin more flexible—than these skeptics believed. So it was no real surprise when Kennedy announced Thursday that he would retain Martin as chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

"Mr. Martin," Kennedy said, "has cooperated effectively in the economic policy of this administration."

Had he not held Martin over, Kennedy likely would have encountered even more vocal opposition than now exists to his tax program. Conservatives in Congress don't care a jot for tax cuts that mean a deficit of the $11.9 billion size anticipated in Kennedy's plan.

Martin deplores deficit financing, although he did tell Congress recently that lower taxes would help the economy.

To his associates, Martin is a pleasant man whose frequent smiles crinkle the corners of his bespectacled eyes. He speaks softly but straight to the point—a characteristic Kennedy learned in policy conference.

Now 56, Martin was known as the boy wonder of finances in the 1930s when he was elected president of the New York Stock Exchange. He was only 31 when the Big Board's governors picked him as the first paid president of the exchange, reorganized in the wake of the Richard Whitney scandal.

Previously, he had been a partner in a St. Louis brokerage firm. Before that he worked in the bank examination department of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

After World War II, Martin served as chairman of the Export-Import Bank, as assistant secretary of the Treasury and as U.S. executive director of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Former President Harry S. Truman named him chairman of the Fed, which is instrumental in managing the nation's supply of money and credit, in 1951.

Martin lives with his wife, whom he married a year after he was drafted into the Army, and their three children.

$3.8 MILLION PROGRAM

U.S. Is Halting Aid To Ceylon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States told Ceylon Friday that a $3.8-million aid program is being halted until Ceylon appropriately compensates two American oil companies for properties nationalized last June.

The Agency for International Development said that within 30 days its mission — including 15 technicians and five administrators — would be returned to the United States. Two or three caretakers will be left to wind up the program.

It was the first such action ordered by AID Administrator David Bell under an amendment to the Foreign Assistance Act which went into effect on Feb. 1.

In a note to the Ceylon government, Ambassador Frances E. Willis drew attention to the wording of the new law which says U.S. assistance shall remain suspended until appropriate steps are taken to compensate American companies for private property which has been nationalized.

This left an implication that when a settlement is reached on the claims of Esso Standard Eastern Inc. and Caltex Ceylon Ltd. for $3.4 million, the U.S. assistance program will be resumed. Ceylon nationalized 83 gas stations belonging to the firms.

In New York, Esso Standard Eastern, an affiliate of Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) issued a statement saying it hoped the suspension of aid "will encourage the government of Ceylon to make an early and equitable compensation for the fair market value of the expropriated properties."

Caltex had no comment.

Since July 1, 1955, the United States has extended $79.6 million to Ceylon in grants, loans, surplus foods and technical assistance.

The effect of the suspension now will be to halt some $800,000 in technical assistance projects and a $3-million development loan to help expand and modernize the Kutanayake Airport, 20 miles from Colombo. The modernization would permit use of the airport by international jet airliners.

However, the United States is ready to continue a food for peace program to Ceylon, the agency said.

The U.S. move was made with apparent reluctance. Last Friday Secretary of State Dean Rusk said no action would be taken on the Feb. 1 deadline pending the outcome of a further negotiating session between oil company representatives and the Ceylon government.

Ceylon Embassy officials here said there was not sufficient time after the oil companies submitted their claim on Jan. 23 to reach an agreement. However, the talks will go on now in a more relaxed manner and there are expectations that an agreement will be reached, Charge d'Affaires Jan H. O. Paulusz said.

Negro Family Starts Reverse Freedom Ride

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A Negro family of 10 was put on a bus in Shreveport, La., en route here Friday in a reverse Freedom Rider move aimed at Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB Katzenbach, the man who commanded U.S. marshals at the University of Mississippi last year.

The Louisiana White Citizens Council said it was sending Alan Gilmore, 34, his wife, and eight children to Trenton with directions to look up Katzenbach's parents.

The council said the Gilmore's luggage was marked with the inscription "Remember Mississippi."

"Because of your statements in New Orleans we know you will protect their civil rights and give them equal opportunities," the council said in identical telegrams addressed to Katzenbach in both Trenton and Washington.

The Gilmores are due to arrive in Trenton at 4:20 a.m. Sunday. Gilmore said in Shreveport that he had no job and hoped he could find one in Trenton. He thanked the White Citizens Council and said he would look up Katzenbach's relatives.

Gilmore's children range from 8 months to 10 years in age. He has worked as a cab driver, a yard man, for a bakery and for a grocery store.

The citizens council said it paid $198 bus fare for the Gilmores, gave them $75 to spend and a dozen cans of sardines to eat during the trip.

Katzenbach supervised the U.S. marshals who went to the University of Mississippi when Negro James H. Meredith sought enrollment.

Man Smothers On Small Fish

MESSINA, Sicily (AP)— Mario Golfo, 40, a fisherman, was killed Thursday by the fish he caught.

Golfo found a small sole in his net a few miles off the port of Spadafora. The sole was particularly lively. Golfo tried to stun it by biting down on its head.

The tiny fish wriggled from Golfo's grasp and lodged in his throat. The fisherman died of suffocation in a hospital despite emergency surgery to open his throat and allow him to breathe.

SONGS CALLED INDECENT

SAIGON (UPI)—The government press agency announced Friday that sentimental and sad songs are being banned in South Vietnam because they "are indecent or degenerate the national spirit." The ban is a further application of a morality law that has outlawed dancing, boxing, and cockfighting and has made use of contraceptives a criminal offense.

Union Bonding Deadline Beat By Few Hours

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and his officers beat by a scant few hours Friday a federal deadline for renewed bonding that had threatened to force them out of business.

The union had until noon to come up with $500,000 worth of bonds. Bonding of union officers is required under the Landrum-Griffin Act to protect labor rank and file from misuse of union funds.

Before the current Teamsters bond expired, Hoffas headquarters announced that United Bonding Insurance Co. of Indianapolis, Ind., had agreed to underwrite the Teamsters for the required $500,000.

The Labor Department said it was satisfied with the legality of the arrangement. The Justice Department, which Hoffa had accused of trying to thwart Teamster efforts to get bonds, said it would have nothing to do with the case unless the Labor Department complained that the law was being violated.

Had the Teamsters' officials not been able to obtain bonding, they would have been barred legally from conducting union business.

Frank E. Wright Sr., president of the Indianapolis firm, said previously that United Bonding was authorized to write only $64,000 in teamster bonds.

But at the 11th hour, the union reported that United had made arrangements with another firm to reinsure the rest of the bonds the Teamsters needed.

Wright said earlier he had examined the Teamster auditing, accounting and control system and was convinced that the bonding "involves no risk, especially in view of past bonding experience with the organization."

More than 100 other bonding companies had turned down the Teamsters on grounds they did not handle that type of bond or that the amounts sought were too big.

Hoffa charged last week that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and the Labor Department were trying to force Teamster officials out of business by pressing insurance companies to refuse bonds for the union.

The Justice and Labor departments denied this. At a House committee hearing requested by Hoffa, the Teamsters president admitted under questioning that he had no direct, personal evidence of alleged pressure tactics.

Negro Writer Arrested On Driving Count

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) — Lawrence A. Still of Chicago, Negro writer for "Ebony" and "Jet" magazines, was arrested in Greenwood Thursday night charged with driving while intoxicated.

He was lodged in the city jail, then released to the custody of Edward Cochran, owner of the Negro Hotel Plaza.

The case was scheduled to come up in police court Friday, but was continued until Monday.

Still told a newsman he was sent to cover the arrival of food from Chicago for Negroes in the area who leaders said were in need.

He said he left Chicago Wednesday and drove from Memphis to Clarksdale, where he checked in with Aaron Henry, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Accompanying him, he said, was another Negro, photographer Mark Stansberry of Memphis.

Cochran said he was holding reservations at his hotel for Gregory and Harry Belafonte, a singer.
